Allies Now Fighting Fiercest Battles

GERMANS DECLARE INVASION CONFLICT NOW NEAR CLIMAX

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 15—The allies were fighting today their fiercest battles since the landings in France and the German high command, which had thrown four armored divisions into furious counterattacks, declared the battle "is approaching its climax."

American infantry and airborne units, supported by tanks smashing across the Cherbourg neck, drove within seven miles of cutting the last communication lines leading to the big port at the tip of the peninsula.

This was virtually the only allied gain of the last 24 hours.

The Germans drove the British from Troarn, which the allies had occupied as the eastern anchor of their 100-mile line, and from Villers-Bocage, one of their two advance points southwest of Caen.

Germans Have 20 Divisions

Best unofficial estimates placed the number of German divisions in action now at around 20 and there were strong indications the enemy was bringing in reserves from other armies as distant as 200 miles.

The fierceness of the fighting was attested by the German high command, which broadcast that the allies were trying to enlarge their bridgehead "toward all sides." It added:

"Among salvoes of heaviest naval guns, incessant air attacks and with freshly brought up infantry and tank forces being thrown into action on both sides, the battle is approaching a climax."

The American advance was on a nine-mile front westward from Carentan toward high ground controlling the last German roads leading to Cherbourg.

Violent German reaction to the threat to the lifeline was expected, and it was likely that further American advances would be only after the costliest fighting.

Approaching High Ground

The Yankees plunged to the Les Sablons-Baupte area, south of Ste. Mere Eglise and west of Carentan. Seven miles to the westward is high ground overlooking La Haye Puits, through which runs the last remaining major north-south highway on peninsula still in German hands.

The advance placed the Americans nearly half way across the peninsula at its narrowest point.

Toward the tip of the peninsula hand-to-hand fighting surged between Germans and troops of the U. S. Fourth division in the streets of Montebourg, 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

American artillery was shelling the road from Montebourg to Valognes to the northwest, and the doughboys controlled the road from Quineville, on the coast, to Montebourg, but the town itself changed hands from hour to hour.

American airborne troops spearheaded the fighting around Carentan and besides pushing to the west shoved the Germans back more than a mile south of the town.

Allied troops driving southward along the central sector of the front were engaged in heavy fighting around Caumont and Villers-Bocage, with the allies in Caumont but the Germans back in Villers-Bocage after a counter-attack.

Area of Main Battle

The main fighting was taking place in front of Villers-Bocage. Allied troops held high ground facing the town a quarter of a mile away. The river Seulles divided the German and allied forces.

From this area northwestward to Montebourg the Ninth and Second tactical air forces carried out what was described officially as "a great number of sorties" in support of the ground forces, many of them from a mounting number of allied air bases set up with full facilities in captured territory.

Allied fliers reported more movement on the roads behind the German lines last night than at any time since D-Day.

While a great weight of allied bombs was being thrown against this movement, an announcement came that several hundred RAF four-engined Lancasters and a fighter escort, in a quick switch to American bombing tactics, had blasted German E-boat pens at Le Havre before dusk last evening with six-ton "factory-busters." It was the RAF's heaviest daylight attack of the war. A second assault was directed against the same targets during the night.

Enemy broadcasts reacted to the new allied attention of Le Havre, lying just east of the beachhead, with surmises that it portended a forthcoming land move in that direction.

Tanks Clash in Action

East of Villers-Bocage to Troarn, beyond battered and besieged Caen, great tank battles raged with undiminished intensity into their fourth day. The Germans were using elements of four armored divisions.

Tilly-Sur-Seulles, a dozen miles west of Caen, changed hands several times. The Germans were reported in it last and a Nazi counter-attack definitely had retaken Troarn, battered into heaps of rubble by air, sea and land bombardment.

With the German counter-attacks mounting in fury, there were indications that Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Runstedt had decided to draw off some of his reserves in other por-

With less than 1,500 miles between the point of attack and Tokyo, American sky fighters inflicted heavy losses against the Nips' sea and air power when they ripped into the heart of Japan's inner defense ring of Pacific islands to sink 29 Jap ships and down or destroy 141 Jap planes. Powerful American task forces blasted shore installations in southern Mariana islands, with the entire Allied operation including attacks on Guam, Saipan and Tinian islands and Roto island. Drastic U. S. Manpower Control Set for Start in Marion Area Tomorrow

Employment Ceilings and Job "Channeling" To Begin on Voluntary Basis.

The double-barreled federal program that will tighten the controls over manpower beginning July 1 in Marion and throughout the country, was explained and studied and given formal unanimous approval of the Marion Area War Manpower committee at a meeting in the Marion WMC-USES office last night.

Both programs are scheduled to start tomorrow on a voluntary basis with WMC officials urging industries and other employers to "get in step" now so there will be no hardships when the program becomes mandatory July 1. Although officials emphasized there are "teeth" in the new program, they said every effort will be made to work out all phases of it on a cooperative basis.

The new controls are perhaps the most far-reaching since the war manpower program was established. They will make it necessary for every industry, business or "one-man business" to contact the USES office if they wish to hire any male worker. Except in a few circumstances affecting comparatively few people, absolutely all male hiring must be done through the USES. The program is regarded as an alternative to governmental conscription of labor, and is expected to achieve some of the goals of a national service act without actually drafting the workers.

The two phases of the program are (1) employment ceilings to govern the number of male workers any employer of 15 or more persons may have on his payroll and (2) complete channeling of all hiring through the USES, which will affect all employers of one or more persons.

Purpose of the employment ceiling program is to insure that the limited supply of male workers is most effectively used in the furtherance of the war effort, officials said. This will gradually reduce the number of male workers many firms may employ, at the same time increasing the number of male workers for some few industries whose product is urgently needed in the war.

Flexibility Promised

With regard to the ceiling program, both C. A. Bennett of Columbus, assistant area director, and Fred B. Scherff, Marion WMC-USES manager, emphasized that the employment ceiling program will be administered on a basis sufficiently flexible to meet the varying conditions found in different communities. The local WMC committees will assist in recommending the specific ceilings placed on various concerns after the concerns have filled out questionnaires which are due back in the office here by June 24. They are now being distributed. The specific ceilings set for factories will be reviewed and revised periodically to meet changed conditions.

The channeling of all male workers 17 years or older through the USES, to start at the same time as the employment ceiling program, will require any one wishing to employ a male worker to obtain that worker through the USES. This applies to all types of employers, not merely those in war work, and will govern all hiring excepting (1) hiring of males for agricultural work, (2) hiring of males for less than 7 days or for work that is supplementary to his principal work, (3) governmental employment, (4) hiring of World war II veteran within 60 days following his initial civilian employment after discharge. There are a few other exceptions that would apply only to a limited number of workers.

Effect of Channeling

Complete channeling of hiring through the USES will enable officials to allocate the available supply of male labor among the industries making the most urgently-needed types of war material. Only by channeling labor in this way can the fullest effective use be made of the limited manpower available, USES officials said. The same controls will serve to keep workers on jobs in factories making urgently-needed war products.

The Marion WMC-USES office at Center and State streets will administer the two new programs for Marion, Hardin and Wyandot counties. The Galion district office will administer them in Morrow and Crawford counties with the assistance of branch offices at Mt. Gilead and Bucyrus.

Two Kenton Youths, One Wounded, Held for Marion Break-In

Mystery surrounding an attempted burglary at a Marion filling station Sunday night was cleared yesterday when Wilbur "Buck" Robinson, 19, of Kenton confessed to Marion county deputies that he and LaVerne Chamberlain, 18, also of Kenton, had staged the forced entrance, Hardin county authorities reported. The arrest was made following admittance of Chamberlain to McKitrick hospital in Kenton with a bullet wound in his right shoulder.

According to a news report from Kenton on Tuesday, the two concocted a story that Chamberlain had been shot when they attempted to rout "petters" from Kenton's lovers' lane along the Scioto river road just east of the city. Hardin county officers quoted the boys as saying the "petter" shot at the two, hitting Chamberlain when they drove back past the parked car. The bullet traveled through the right shoulder and grazed a rib before imbedding itself in the lower right side.

When the Kenton story appeared in Tuesday's Star, the Marion county sheriff contacted Hardin county authorities informing them of the attempted burglary at the filling station here saying that the operator, R. K. Combs, who lives in the building, had fired and hit one of the persons at the window.

The Marion sheriff reported the two came to the front of the building, had broken a pane of glass and one was reaching through the opening apparently intent on taking two wrist

Stimson Says Allied Grip in France Is Firm

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—War Secretary Stimson said today the Allies have established a firm foothold on the European coast.

"I believe we are there to stay until all of France is liberated and Germany defeated," he asserted, although cautioning that we must expect counter attacks greater than any yet met" in the fighting in Normandy.

Stimson told a news conference that destruction or heavy damage to nine bridges over the Seine river by Allied air forces was one major factor in slowing down deployment of a major counter attack—"a delay longer than we could reasonably have counted upon."

The fuller information which has now come on the initial landings of our men on the French coast, the secretary said, "is a case in point to illustrate the desirability of not reaching hasty conclusions. The west wall was no myth or pushover. At various places the landings were relatively easy, thanks to an element of tactical surprise, a careful choice of the general region for the assault and the destruction of German communications by our preliminary air attack.

"But everywhere German offshore mines, beach obstacles, guns

Halsey Gives Up South Pacific Command for New Assignment

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTH PACIFIC, June 15—Adm. William F. Halsey Jr. relinquished his position as Allied commander in chief in the south Pacific today to Vice Adm. John Henry Newton, 62, his deputy commander.

Halsey is being assigned to a new and as yet undisclosed role in the Pacific. The formal change of command of the south Pacific and of the south Pacific force of the United States Pacific fleet was accomplished in a simple ceremony in the headquarters building here.

Halsey became commander of the south Pacific area as a vice admiral Oct. 18, 1942. Forces under his command defeated the Japanese in the battle of Santa Cruz Oct. 26, 1942, and in the battle of Guadalcanal the following Nov. 13 to 15. He was promoted to full admiral Nov. 18, 1942.

Halsey sent a ringing "well done" message to his south Pacific forces, in a statement which said in part:

"I send this parting well done to my victorious all-services south Pacific fighting team. You have met, measured and mowed down the best the enemy had on land and sea and air.

COUNTY BOOSTS E BOND SALES

973 Purchasers Listed Yesterday; Drive Total Now $148,015.

E bonds were written for 973 Marion county residents yesterday to help push the county's Fifth War Loan goal up to the $148,015.25 mark.

These E bonds totaled $33,693.75, and with $14,700 in G bonds and $1,942.50 in F bonds, made one of the best single day's showings for individual bond buyers in many days, substantially topping the opening day's sales.

These figures gave Marion county more than 15 per cent of its $819,000 E bond quota.

One of the big contributions to yesterday's selling came from the residential division made up of Civilian Defense workers headed by W. E. Orcutt. The solicitors reported about 200 sales totaling $12,295 last night, more than doubling their opening day's figure.

Mr. Orcutt, D. J. MacDonald and Mrs. Esther Phillians tabulated the residential returns last night at the bond drive headquarters. Patrolman L. E. Reardon was on duty as a police guard.

Will Sound Signal

The residential canvass will continue tonight, with air raid sirens blowing at 7 o'clock to mark the start of the evening's work. The sirens will be heard nightly through next Tuesday.

Drive leaders today pointed out again that only the individual purchases of bonds are being counted into the campaign total at this time, but that substantial purchases are coming in from corporations, to be counted in on June 26. Only the individual purchases are being tallied in the first two weeks of the drive so that sufficient emphasis may be placed on individual buying.

So far, individuals have bought more than four per cent of the county's $3,365,000 goal, and the

U. S. AIR FORCE'S GIANT B-29'S IN ACTION 1ST TIME

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, JUNE 15—The Army threw a new fighting giant into the war in the Pacific today, turning loose the New B-29 super Fortress in an air attack on the Japanese homeland.

A terse war department communique said:

"B-29 super Fortresses of the United States army air forces 20th bomber command bombed Japan today."

It was the first fighting assignment for the sky mammoth, and the announcement also served to disclose for the first time the existence of the 20th air force (of which the 20th bomber command is a part.) A world-roaming unit under the personal direction of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces.

world-roaming unit under the personal direction of Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air forces.

Details of Raid Withheld

The war department withheld details on the new bombing of Japan proper—first such attack on the mainland since the Doolittle raid of April 18, 1942.

There was no immediate hint of what part of Nippon had been hit, nor from where the B-29's went into action.

However, the war department subsequently disclosed that planes taking part in today's raid came from the India-China-Burma theater.

But Arnold said in connection with the announcement: "This employment of the B-29 makes possible the softening up attack on Japan very much earlier than would be possible with aircraft hitherto known to combat."

General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, in a statement on the attack made public by the war department, said that the super Fortress introduced a new type of offensive against the enemy and "also creates a new application of military force."

Because of the enormous range and heavy bomb load of this newest bombardment plane, said Marshall, they can strike "from many and remote bases at a single objective.

Their power is so great, the chief of staff continued, that the (American) joint chiefs of staff decided it would be uneconomical to confine the super Fortress organization to a single theater, and "these bombers therefore will remain under the centralized control of the joint chiefs of staff with a single commander, General Arnold, acting as their agent in directing their bombing operations throughout the world."

"The planes will be treated as major task forces in the same manner as naval task forces are directed against specific objectives," Marshall said.

"This type of flexible, centralized control recognizes that very long-range bombardment is not a weapon for the air forces alone. Under the joint chiefs of staff, theater commanders will have a voice in its employment, ensuring that maximum effectiveness will be obtained through missions which will contribute directly to the overall strategy for the defeat of the enemies."

Arnold asserted:

"The super Fortress is not going to win the war by itself, nor has anyone thought it will do so. It will, however, like its predecessors, the B-17 and B-24, strike at the sources of enemy strength, and prepare the way for ultimate decision by our well-established team of land, sea and air forces.

"In our new strategic thinking, the B-17 and the B-24 will now become medium instead of long range bombers, and our B-25 and B-26 aircraft will become short range bombers. These smaller planes will travel no less distances than they do now, but the B-29 will attack much greater distance and with more power.

Second Homeland Raid

It was the second American raid on the Japanese homeland. On April 18, 1942, when American military fortunes were at their lowest, the nation was electrified by word that Tokyo and other Japanese cities had been attacked from the air.

The first announcement then came from the Japanese and it was not until weeks later that it was learned that a force of B-25 Mitchell bombers under James H. Doolittle, then only a lieutenant colonel but now a lieutenant general commanding the Eighth air force in Britain, had carried out that adventurous mission.

The Mitchells flew from the aircraft carrier Hornet and after crossing Japan flew on to the continent. One landed in eastern Siberia, the other in China. Some of them came down in Japanese-held territory and a few of the fliers were taken captive. Months later the Japanese themselves made it known that some of these prisoners had been executed.

B-29's To Constitute New Air Force Under Arnold's Command

By JAMES J. STREBIG
Associated Press Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON, June 15—The Army, after tersely announcing its mammoth B-29 super-Fortresses had bombed Japan, today uncovered many details of the world's most talked about airplane.

At the same time, the war department disclosed an equally spectacular military organization hitherto unmentioned—the 20th air force, a roving, earth circling bomber command headed by Gen. H. H. Arnold.

The Boeing B-29 and the 20th air force were made for each other, one a weapon designed to slug the enemy with unparalleled reach and power, the other a military authority to use such a weapon anywhere in the world independent of theater commanders.

Unlike any other air force, the 20th is responsible only to the joint chiefs of staff. General Arnold heads it as a separate assignment rather than as part of his job as commanding general of the Army air forces. He will use it as a strategic air force directed from Washington. The chief of staff of the 20th air force is Brig. Gen. H. S. Hansell, deputy chief of staff of the Army air forces.

The plane and its employment are complemented by the most gigantic production program ever conceived for any weapon of war. Virtually every industrial center in America is contributing directly to the output of the huge bomber, which already is rolling down multiple assembly lines in five of the nation's greatest airframe factories. In addition, one sub-assembly plant is so large it has the status of a prime contractor. The program is counted in billions of dollars.

The war department and the Boeing Airplane Co., showed the B-29 and its supporting program to the some 60 newspaper, magazine and radio writers at Wichita, Kas., heart of the production scheme, early in May. The information was held in confidence until today's disclosure that it had bombed Japan. The writers were flown in the plane and permitted to inspect it thoroughly, aloft and aground.

Invasion Weapons

Flame Thrower

Associated Press Features

By The Associated Press

Resembling an insect spray gun, the Army's flame thrower is a giant blow torch designed to dislodge a holed-in enemy and is especially effective through the narrow slits of pillboxes.

It consists of fuel and pressure tanks strapped to a soldier's back like an infantry pack, connected by a rubber hose to the flame gun, carried in the hands like a rifle. The fuel is heavy oil, propelled by compressed air or nitrogen. At the nozzle of the gun is a small hydrogen tank and a spark plug. The weapon, complete, weighs about 68 pounds.

In action, the tank valves are opened, permitting the chemicals to flow to the working end of the gun. To fire, the soldier presses a button which sparks the hydrogen and releases the oil under pressure.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

WHAT WE OWE A PILOT.

Editor of The Star: First let me say I'm somewhere in England.

And now let's get down to brass tacks about this business of a young pilot who was accused of burning precious gasoline to give his parents an airman's salute or farewell to his beloved parents.

Maybe the person who griped doesn't have a son in the service and it may be that he does. But in my opinion if there weren't boys like him in the air force, we wouldn't have boys like our own Don Gentile of Piqua, Ohio and Major Richard Bong of Poplar, Wisconsin, who literally take their lives into their own hands when they go aloft to meet the enemy air forces. Think it over, Mister Reader, before you begrudge a boy of bidding farewell to people he loves best, his parents.

Think it over Mr. Reader, think it over. If it wasn't for that young bomber pilot, there would be 10 ton less bombs to drop on the enemy. Because for every young man in the air force or other branch of the armed forces, it keeps you from being homeless like so many people are in Nazi occupied Europe. Think it over.

Snake Query

...as received recently ... from a former resi... county. Our as... requested for infor... snakes. It seems their ... was all that could ...except for the abund... ...welcome pets of all sizes.

One day a six foot specimen was killed on a tree outside the bedroom window by the man of the house. A river at the foot of the hill near the house has more snakes than carp. Since there are three small children in the family, the parents are quite concerned as to whether the things are poisonous. The neighbors informed them that the snakes were blue racers and water moccasins.

We were told by T. D. Bain, biology teacher at Harding High school that blue racers were harmless but that water moccasins were definitely poisonous. However, Mr. Bain says that there are no snakes of the latter species in Ohio so the family can rest more easily. The black water snake is often mistaken for the moccasin. It is a mean customer and hard to kill, but even though it will bite, it is not poisonous, he said.

We hope that our answer will ease the minds of our friends somewhat. As to how to get rid of them, our information stops right there. Guess they will just have to keep a stout club handy at all times.

Where Is Mr. Ripley?

Capt. Stafford over at Central fire station took perfect aim with a mythical gun the other night and shot a pigeon. Yes sir, he actually saw it fall dead on the pavement. Explanation was given later. On the night of a recent lightning storm, he and another fireman were sitting in front of the station discussing the where and what of hunting when Stafford spotted the pigeon atop the cupola of the church on the opposite corner. To show his excellent marksmanship he carefully took aim and pulled the "trigger." At that precise moment a bolt of lightning struck the church, killing the bird. Some sound effects.

Roses Brighten City

Roses in Marion seem to be trying to outshine each other this year. The pink is more pink and the red more burning than usual. Some Marion homes seem literally festooned with the colorful clambering blooms. And thorns seem to be keeping pace with the blossoms. This year thorns are bigger and better, more prickly and hard to remove from the hands than in other years. They even seem to act more aggressive as if they were lying in wait under some soft looking leaf, ready to tear into the unsuspecting hand of the hapless gatherer of bouquets.

"Home in Indiana" with Marion Scenes Draws Capacity Crowds on Opening Day

By MARY HERRING

That all who attended the premiere showing of "Home in Indiana" were pleased with the picture was evident when spectators filed out after each of the four performances at the Ohio theater yesterday. Comments given showed a definite feeling of pride in the fact Marion scenes and extras had contributed to the success of the picture.

At all of the first day showings there were capacity audiences. John J. Huebner, manager, estimated the opening day's attendance to be approximately 3,500.

The Marion fairground race track enters into the picture in the closing racing scenes and about 30 or 40 minutes of the picture was shot almost exclusively at the local track. The grandstand, filled with Marion extras, the center field and speed barns as well as other buildings on the fairgrounds are all familiar and may be identified at once as where the local scenes were filmed. Several of the closeups in the grandstand bring familiar faces into focus, especially in the section immediately behind the stars' box. Other scenes shot around the racing stables on the eastern side of the track show spectators in and around the buildings. These scenes are of course much clearer and more can be identified than in the grandstand flashes.

Familiar Views

Watching the horses in the picture taking the Marion track is almost like watching the Little Grand Circuit races now in progress. You see virtually the same scenes with a slight difference in the faces of spectators.

Those who followed the progress of the movie scenes filmed last year will remember the difficulties experienced with the seemingly unending obstacles. First, cloudy weather then illness of members of the cast held up production for a couple of days. One of the most disheartening to the producer and amusing to local people was the day the shooting was ruined time after time by whistles of train engines running on one or more of Marion's five railroads. The perfect takes that day were shot according to five time tables, and timed so the action and dialogue ended before another whistle was due.

Drama Is Impressive

The picture is really a tender description of the actions, dreams and heartbreaks of men who love horses. Lon McCallister and Jeanne Crain are the young lovers in the film. Walter Brennan, star of the show, Ward Bond, Charlotte Greenwood, June Haver and Charles Dingle all are cast in important roles. The action is fast and filled with suspense. There isn't a let down through the entire feature.

The local scenes and familiar faces glimpsed now and then are a big attraction and the picture itself is worth while. Many more will probably say, "I'd like to see it again, it's beautiful."

LABOR SITUATION EASES

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 15—An increasing daily average of job applications from in the Ohio manpower commission may result in the removal of greater Cleveland from the No. 1 critical labor shortage area classification. Dr. A. P. Edmunds, area WMC chief, believes. An influx of 3,000 applicants, including newcomers from the south and adjoining states, local shipyards and teachers has almost solved Cleveland's labor problem, Edmunds said yesterday.

Backed Up to the Limit

THE Allied high command could never have tackled a landing on western Europe without the confidence that the army it would be backed up to the limit by the United States.

It is the certainty that all the resources of the nation will be mobilized to give support which enables fighting men to go into danger; they have the security of knowing they will not be let down in the pinch. Without it morale cannot be maintained.

American fighting men know they are backed up. They know that everything possible is being done to get them through with their job abroad and to bring them home to the kind of a country they want. One of the reasons they know it is because War Bond campaigns are always oversubscribed. People back home are investing money in the victory their fighting men are buying with their sweat, tears and blood.

There could be no better time than today to make your investment—your tribute to the soldier who needs to be backed up with your confidence and your dollars.

Political Yeast in the South

THE only thing known for certain about the political yeast working in the minds of southern Democrats opposed to another nomination for Franklin D. Roosevelt is that no one can be sure what its effect is going to be, including the southern Democrats.

They may follow through on their indicated strategy of unpledged electors, but that would be a difficult campaign to fight to a finish. As Arthur Krock points out in The New York Times, public opinion and a federal judiciary largely appointed by Mr. Roosevelt probably would be too much for the insurgents if they tried that scheme.

The possibility that their support might be weaned from Mr. Roosevelt as a fourth term candidate by giving a dissident southern Democrat second place on the Republican ticket is too remote to be worth considering. The Republican nominating convention meets first; it would not be likely to woo southern Democrats until the latter first had been jilted by the party of their own choice.

Mr. Krock believes the important possibility of a break between the southerners and the cut-lous coalition now calling itself the Democratic party is the obvious device of separate national tickets in critically important states. The subtraction of electoral votes in this way, he argues, could not be assailed in the courts, nor by public opinion. Where so much political yeast is working, it's a safe bet that something is going to happen. The solid south does not look very solid in 1944.

Self-Determination

IT SHOULD be obvious that the status of Gen. Charles de Gaulle in France can not be decided in America and that the White House by refusing to try to do so is closer to our national tradition than critics of this government's policy.

The clamor for immediate and positive action to give the general what he wants, under the auspices of the United States and its allies, apparently arises from a conviction that outsiders are qualified to make French political decisions by remote control, contrary to the principles of the Atlantic Charter. Oddly enough, the clamor is most vociferous among the Charter's staunchest defenders.

Gen. Eisenhower has appealed to French patriots for assistance in the campaign to drive the Germans out of France. No one denies that many of the Frenchmen who want to help the cause are admirers of Gen. de Gaulle. But some of them may not be his followers. His political status in France is something for Frenchmen, themselves, to decide when the time comes. There is no matter of expediency, military or political, which takes precedence over the principle of self-determination for populations to be liberated from German dictatorship.

German Prisoners

NO ONE really thought the Germans were different under Hitler's regime, but his shrewd technique of repeating the great lie so often that denial becomes tiresome did have its effect. We are surprised to see mediocre types dominant among German prisoners. We wonder if these can be the samples of a nation which dared to claim superiority. Certainly, there is no physical evidence. Perhaps it is superiority of mind, but arrogance must not be confused with either the mind or the soul.

Earlier in the war when German prisoners were mostly captured airmen, there was some reason to believe there might be substance to the claim of physical superiority. It is recalled that in the first battle of France four years ago, observers noted the marked contrast between Hitler's crack troops and the Britons who were driven into the sea at Dunkirk.

Britain, the United States, Russia, China, or even Japan could assemble for photographic purposes a group of fine physical specimens. Its members would not necessarily be better fighters, but they would look better—in the pictures. They would be powerful propaganda in one direction, just as the picture of German prisoners are proving to be powerful propaganda in another. The superman myth is gone—until the next time someone springs it on a gullible world.

News Behind the News

Choice of Republican Chairman Certain To Rest with Presidential Nominee.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, June 15—The Republican national committee reorganized the "G. O. P." [illegible] for the campaign of [illegible] Dewey.

Apparently, friends of Mr. Speaker [illegible] directed that, in recognition of [illegible] harmony convention [illegible] at Mackinac [illegible] defy the [illegible] of selecting the end of the [illegible] Privately, the party [illegible] Dewey candidate at [illegible] to select the national [illegible] the campaign [illegible].

It has been agreed that Mr. Dewey [illegible] Governor, and [illegible] Herbert Brownell, [illegible] manager in the New York state campaign of Chairman Edward Hart of the New York state committee.

Speculation is [illegible] to [illegible] Dewey [illegible], but the choice [illegible] probably will rest with Mr. Dewey, [illegible] the [illegible] The national committee [illegible] will [illegible] the meeting [illegible] of the party leaders in the various [illegible] many of whom are not [illegible] Dewey, but are [illegible] going along "[illegible]" as you might say, in view of the popular showing which has [illegible] for him. The matter seems [illegible] to be more [illegible] the nature of a [illegible] than a battle, and no one is running very hard.

Spangler and his public relations counsel, James P. Selvage, already have started the post-convention [illegible] by [illegible] the committee [illegible] before a [illegible] headquarters began functioning. Now posters, slogans and [illegible] material are ready for use the day the convention closes.

The same care is [illegible] being worked out [illegible] for the Chicago meeting June 26. While [illegible] the [illegible] have been [illegible] in the gossip columns, the [illegible] of organization leadership is fairly well settled.

Chairman of the platform committee will be Senator Robert Taft, the new Boss of the Republican party, a studious, straight-thinking, clear-minded moderate. Already he has begun [illegible] on the [illegible] formal fact gathering opinions from the various leaders.

The man who will write the international plank is Senator Vandenberg of Michigan. He is supposed to be working along the line of the Mackinac conference, which brought the various conflicting forces into a harmony declaration.

Probably incorporated also will be the theory of the Smith-Connolly resolution. Both these are along the lines in which popular opinion is jelling after the strenuous debate, namely a Democratic formula for post-war collaboration of nations.

Thus, all [illegible] are to be well represented at the top of the gathering—Taft, the Bricker man and Vandenberg, the former isolationist, with Dewey selecting the chairman.

Harmony

At least, this represents a composite viewpoint of the most influential Republican leaders here, and the only thing likely to upset it would be an unexpected Bricker check under the Dewey bandwagon. Bricker's people here are continuously boosting their claims of delegate strength. Their latest figure is 250, but this still is only one-fourth of the convention.

Rivalry in politics is never anything less than a "battle," yet the final reports from the Harrisburg governors' conference indicated the personal disagreement between the Ohio and New York governors did not reach the breaking point. Neither went away carrying hair from the other's head.

Harmony is, therefore, far more likely in the Republican convention than in the Democratic meeting, where southern delegates, at least, are reputed to be preparing to roll into the convention hall in armored cars and tanks, fully gunned, and with a full stock of ammunition.

Defining "Postwar" Would End Many Disagreements, Writer Believes.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE term "post-war" very much needs to be clarified and defined. It is now used to cover everything that may happen from the day of the armistice to the end of the 20th century. As a result there is no meeting of minds. When one man is talking about what needs to be done immediately, another about what might be done at the end of one, two or three years, and another about what ought to be done in the much longer future, they are not talking about the same problems. Naturally they find themselves at cross-purposes.

The true post-war period is not the whole future but that period during which we shall be dealing with the direct consequences of this war.

It is the period in which the armed forces will be demobilized, industry reconverted, internal and external war debts accounted for, military commerce transformed into civil commerce, provisional governments replaced by permanent. It is the period of the special regime during which the enemy states will be on probation, and the occupied countries are redressing the balance.

15-Year Period

Some of the phases—for example, the American demobilization reconversion—will be shorter than other phases—for example, the probation of Germany. But all of them together are the post-war period which will last, if we may judge from historic experience, about 15 years after the armistice.

Not until this post-war period has been passed are we likely to know whether the world has reached a more or less settled peace, such as prevailed in the 19th century, or whether the post-war period has become a prewar period as it did between 1931, when Japan seized Manchuria, and 1933, when Hitler rose to power.

Our great task in all fields of endeavor is to manage this post-war period so that 15 or 20 years hence political relations are essentially stable and economic conditions are workable. If we succeed, we may pitch high our hopes, and look confidently upon plans for collaboration among free peoples.

But we must not make the criminal mistake of 1919 and think, as Wilson did, that the special difficulties of the post-war period can be dealt with by a universal institution in theory permanent but new and untried in fact. Nor must we make the Hoover mistakes at Paris of dismantling the war machinery before the war conditions have been liquidated. Of the Republican party's mistake under Harding of proclaiming a return to normalcy when the state of the world is still abnormal.

The divisions among us arise in considerable degree from a failure to make clear the distinction between the transitional measures of the post-war period and the state of things we wish to reach at the end of that period.

Senator Taft, for example, announced the other day that it would be "like pouring money down a sewer" for the United States to participate in the proposed international monetary fund.

The senator believes that currencies can not be stabilized without first "taking all the other steps necessary to get a country on an exporting basis," and to this end he recommends direct financial agreements with Great Britain, Russia and other countries.

But Mr. Taft would not have needed to throw so much cold, unclean water on a project which is being worked on by many of the ablest men of all the nations, if he had understood, or if they had made it plainer, that the international monetary fund is not designed to solve the immediate post-war problems. These will undoubtedly have to be met by special arrangements negotiated, as Mr. Taft suggests, directly with the principal financial powers of the world.

Peace Organization

The same clarifying rule needs to be kept in mind in our discussion of the peace organization. If we think of it as the institution which settles this war and enforces this peace settlement with our enemies, we shall end in a whole series of dilemmas.

The military commitments needed to enforce the demilitarization of Germany and Japan over a period of say 15 years should constitute such an array of force that the very idea of challenging the settlement can not enter the minds of the Germans and the Japanese.

But the power needed to enforce peace on our enemies during a specific post-war period is more power than the nations can, will, or should commit permanently and for undefined purposes to an international organization.

So we must distinguish between the permanent general agreement among all states and the specific post-war treaty imposed on the enemy states. If we do not, we shall fail to enforce the settlement with our enemies, when we are fighting to win, because we shall not make the commitments definite enough. And we shall not get a universal society for peace because we shall give it a task to do which, because it is universal, it is quite incapable of doing.

Jim Farley's Recollections

("Farley Resigns After 14 Years."—Head.)

I remember, I remember
When Democrats were glad
To get in office now and then
And talked ONE term not bad;
When politicians were satisfied
To hold the job a while
And holding on forever was
A dream Welsh-rarebit style

II

I remember, I remember
When I was but a boy,
A Democrat who got a job
Regarded it with joy;
When he gave thanks for getting it
And caused no fearful stir
If anyone suggested that
He shouldn't stay for life.

III

I remember, I remember
Those days of thirty-two
When Franklin said he'd like a chance
To see what he could do.
One term was all we talked about—
We would name out the floor
If anybody'd up and said,
"Oh, let's get in for FOUR!"

IV

I remember, I remember
When dear Lou Howe and I
Discussed the chance of getting Fra-
In there for just a try;
It's only fair a Democrat,"
We said "should have a fling"
Ah, I had the dream how Frank
Would cling and cling and cling'

V

I remember, I remember
My fervor for the boss—
The zeal I put into the job
Of putting him across.
The weary nights and long hot da-
In just my shirt and pants
At helping to give Franklin what
He liked to call "a chance"

VI

I remember, I remember
When one term seemed immense;
And no one sought the White House
As a life-long residence!
When just a little break in life
Was all we had in mind
And no one said, "A contract for
A life job must be signed!"

VII

I remember, I remember
The days I was "Dear Jim"—
When Franklin had a smile for me
And I had one for him;
But I'm a plain old-fashioned guy
And I can never say
A Democrat should hold his job
Until the Judgment day.

What War Bonds Mean at the Front

How "Perfect Victories" Begin

MOPPING UP becomes easier, as on Kwajalein, when Marines have the tools to do the job.

By LEIF ERICKSON
Associated Press Correspondent

This article [illegible] by Associated Press [illegible] correspondents on [illegible] to meet at the [illegible] Lee Lesson [illegible] since 1942.

PEARL HARBOR—When you read dispatches from the front and correspondents' stories telling how the Marines and Army doughboys storm, capture and shatter a death-stinking Pacific atoll, you folks at home feel hope-lighting satisfaction, don't you?

You think to yourself "We've licked the Japs again. We ought to be able now to keep right on rolling to the China coast, and pretty soon start showing the Japs what war is like right at home."

Militarily, the capture of Kwajalein, Roi, and Namur in the Marshalls was as nearly perfect as an amphibious operation can be.

But for individual American husbands, fathers and sons, the cost of the Kwajalein victory was great. Two hundred and sixty eight paid with their lives. Hundreds were wounded. Many will remain physically damaged for the rest of their lives.

Lives and bodies are the weapons of war. If all of you could see a hospital ship crowded with wounded men as they took coming straight from the battle line, you would know why the primary consideration of Admiral Nimitz and his team of Army, Navy and Marine commanders in their war planning is:

The cost in American men must be as small as humanly possible.

The more power in ships, guns, tanks, planes, landing craft, bombs and shells Nimitz and his staff can muster, the smaller the battle cost in lives will be.

Victory bond dollars buy the material weapons of war. Dollars buying those weapons earn incalculable interest in the lives of America's fighting men.

One-seventh of the total area of Ireland is peat bog.

Toledo Stars

TOLEDO, which some years ago began a campaign to overcome the effects of bad publicity caused by mismanagement of its civic duties, now has turned motion picture producer, with itself in the starring role.

"This Is Toledo," a technicolor film with a sound track, has been taken seven showings a day, five days a week since early last February. It covers the activities of the city—business, industry, religion, education, government, social affairs and municipal finances.

Cost of the entire project was $7,000, the relatively low cost being made possible by the services of a photographer from the municipal police department.

No effort has been made to show the picture in commercial theaters. It was produced with the idea of making it a feature attraction at schools, meetings, luncheons and banquets, where it would be the main feature of the program. The picture has been shown in other cities on request.

Drops To Drink

Rafts and life boats will probably soon be equipped with a simple method of chemical desalinization—the most practical method of producing drinkable water from the sea yet devised except distillation, reports the magazine "Science".

The equipment, invented by the navy, is a marvel of compactness and simplicity. There are two chemical compounds compressed to the size of a bar of soap—and four plastic bags having a capacity of a quart each.

Sea water is transformed in the following manner: one of the chemical compounds is dissolved in a bag filled with sea water—this eliminates several of the undesirable elements in the water. Next the liquid is poured into a second bag which contains a filter sack. By this time the water is salt-less, but it is entirely too alkaline to drink. The alkali is removed by pouring the water into the third bag where the second chemical is dissolved—then the water is finally filtered into the fourth bag and is palatable.

Rejected Once, Rooney Now in Army as Private

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 15—The Army's Mickey Rooney has a private's pay—and a new salary—today.

The Army gave him both.

A barracks bag slung over his shoulder, the 22-year-old inductee told reporters at nearby Ft. MacArthur:

"This is the biggest thing in my life. It makes me happy to know they've accepted me."

The erstwhile No. 1 box office attraction exchanged that designation for an identification number almost as long as his name, and a weekly film salary in four figures for a private's pay.

He was inducted yesterday following a deferment granted to complete film work when he passed his physical last March. In March, 1943, Rooney was rejected for military service because, his mother said, Army doctors found he had a heart flutter and high blood pressure.

The actor and Ava Gardner, 20-year-old screen player, were divorced in Las Vegas, Nev., last Sept. 15.

ONLY FIVE VETERANS ANSWER G.A.R. CALL

Two Gallon Women Elected To Head Auxiliaries.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 15—The roll call sounded again today for the Boys in Blue, but responses came from only five of the thousands of Ohioans who once marched in the Grand Army of the Republic. Only 18 are left in the state.

Nearing or past the century mark, most of the quintet gathered for the 78th annual state encampment of the G.A.R. mustered strength to come here only by calling on the determination that carried them through bitter battles more than three-quarters of a century ago.

Among the veterans attending the encampment was William D. Welch of Cincinnati, who said he was 115. He made the trip in a state highway patrol radio cruiser.

Others were John R. Bennett, 99, state department commander of Waynesfield; Lewis H. Heiston, 96, of Pleasantville, senior vice commander; C. W. Needles, 97, of Springfield, junior vice commander, and Frederick Priester, 98, Cincinnati, past department commander.

Over a thousand members of six auxiliary organizations were here as registration officially opened the convention yesterday. A memorial service last night honored deceased G.A.R. veterans. There also was a banquet sponsored by the Women's Relief Corps, G.A.R. auxiliary.

The Federated Patriotic Societies of Ohio elected Mrs. Beatrice Coover of Galion president to succeed Mrs. Mary J. Boll of Columbus. The Junior club of the Women's Relief Corps elected Miss Mary Metzger of Galion president. She succeeds Miss Betty Edmonstone of Mansfield.

A joint meeting of the convention groups was scheduled today. Mayor James Garfield Stewart of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for governor, will address delegates tonight.

WANTS LONGER DUCK SEASON

COLUMBUS, O., June 15—The state conservation commission announced yesterday it would ask federal authorities to sanction either a split duck hunting season for Ohio or to extend present seven-day season to 22 days. The commission said either plan would alleviate conditions criticized by sportsmen in southern Ohio counties, who complained the season usually has ended before ducks began migrating south.

BILL GUARANTEES PARITY FOR FARMERS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—Congressional approval was predicted today for house-passed legislation to guarantee farmers parity prices—a step which Rep. Pace (D-Ga.) termed "the most important action for agriculture in two years."

Farm leaders of opposing factions in both chambers joined in supporting the proposal which Pace successfully submitted to the house yesterday as "a substitute for and improvement on" the controversial Bankhead-Brown textile amendment to the price control act.

The Georgian declared his plan "without increasing consumer costs one cent, will provide 50 to 75 million dollars yearly to cotton growers, and proportionate returns to many other agriculture producers."

Cotton, wheat, rye, peanuts and eggs would be the major items on which farmers would get immediate price boosts if the measure becomes law, Pace told a reporter.

1,300 U. S. Warships In Invasion of France

WASHINGTON, June 15—More than 1,300 U. S. warships carried sea-borne troops, guns and war into Europe in the invasion of France.

And despite the mass of vessels concentrated on the blasting of Hitler's forces into unconditional surrender, Navy Secretary Forrestal asserts the Pacific offensive "has not been and will not be diminished."

On the contrary, he said yesterday, "at the moment of Germany's greatest crisis, Japan is being too hard-pressed to lend any diversional support."

COL. THEODORE WYMAN JR., 56, (top photo), Army engineer, was said by the house military committee at Washington to have contributed by "mismanagement" to delays in pre-war defense installations at Pearl Harbor. Wyman was in charge of defense construction in the Hawaiian and South Pacific area at the time of Japanese attack. He is now stationed overseas.

HANS WILHELM ROHL, Los Angeles, (lower photo) German-born contractor who held war department contracts for defense construction in Hawaii, was named in the same committee report at Washington concerning delayed defense preparations at Pearl Harbor.

watches from a board inside. His accomplice was leaning on the window sill.

When the proprietor heard the glass breaking, he quietly came from a back room and descended about three steps in the darkened room, stopping behind a counter. He told the Marion sheriff he was about three or four feet from the pair when the shot was fired. He believed that one had been hit when he heard a cry. The two then ran for their car, parked about a block away on Silver street.

A news report today from Kenton revealed that when confronted with a charge of the Marion county sheriff that a youth had been wounded in an attempted break-in, Robinson signed a statement admitting that the two broke into the filling station window to steal the watches.

Charges have not yet been filed by Marion authorities against Chamberlain but Robinson was returned here yesterday. The charge will be filed against the wounded youth, Marion county officials said, when his condition is improved.

27 DEAD, 100 MISSING IN HAWAII EXPLOSION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15 — Twenty-seven men were killed, 100 are missing and 380 were wounded in the explosion at Pearl Harbor May 21, recently announced by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander-in-chief.

The Navy last night in making the disclosure of the number of casualties, also announced that last Sunday an ammunition dump at Oahu island exploded killing three men. Seven others are listed as missing.

The blast May 21 occurred while ammunition was being unloaded from one of several small landing craft, several of which were destroyed. Last Sunday's explosion was caused by the accidental detonation of several torpedo warhead being transferred from a truck to a platform.

Capital invested in the U. S. motion picture industry totals $2,061,500,000.

WFA MAY EXTEND FREEZING ORDER

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—The War Food Administration may extend until July 1 an order freezing sales of corn in 126 midwestern counties except to the government for industrial processors or to livestock feeders with government purchase permits.

The order is due to expire June 24. It was issued late in April in connection with a government farm-to-farm purchase campaign to secure grain needed by processors using essential war materials.

WFA officials said today only 30,000,000 bushels of a 65,000,000 bushel goal has been delivered under the campaign although farmers have pledged an additional 25,000,000 bushels.

Corn supplies are at the lowest level since 1937 when a drouth cut into production.

DE GAULLE IN FRANCE FOR BRIEF PERIOD

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 15 — Gen. Charles De Gaulle returned to France yesterday for the first time in four years and received a warm welcome from the people of liberated Normandy, but his relations with Allied authorities remained clouded today by a reported disagreement involving the employment of French liaison officers during the invasion.

During his surprise visit to Allied-held territory, crowds gathered to cheer De Gaulle and to sing "La Marseillaise." He stayed in France only a few hours and then returned to England.

While he was receiving his ovation in Normandy, qualified sources in London said De Gaulle had withdrawn all but a handful of fighting French liaison officers at the very moment Allied troops were moving onto the assault beaches. A similar report came from high authorities in Washington.

It was said here that these officers had been counted upon by the Allied supreme command to act in a liaison capacity with the French people to help take over civil administration.

His action was attributed to anger over the Allies' non-recognition of his national liberation committee as the provisional government of France and the refusal of the supreme command to let him take over the issuing of radio directions to the French people on D-day.

BATTALION COMMANDER MARION CO. M VISITOR

Lt. Col. C. R. Stump at Armory Attending Regular Drill.

Lt. Col. Charles R. Stump of Sidney, O., battalion commander of the Fourth Infantry regiment, paid his first official visit to Co. M when the Marion company of Ohio State Guard held regular drill at the Armory Tuesday night.

Drill included map reading by Sgt. Frank Furniss, hygiene and sanitation by Pfc. Harry Chard, and interior guard duty by Sgt. Timothy Fahey.

Two members of the company left for military training last week and three more are to leave soon. Lt. Elmer E. Smith stated today that at least five recruits are needed to bring the company up to required strength.

Guests Tuesday were Staff Sgt. Harry Shaffer of Sidney, battalion mess sergeant, Lt. Paul Tron, former Co. D member, now home on leave before reporting to Camp Meade, Md., and Donald Bowman, fireman first class, a charter member of Co. H, who is on leave after service in the South Pacific area.

Capt. Carl Eberl and Lt. Smith will attend an officers' meeting in Fostoria on Sunday, the first planned since Co. M was transfered from the Second to the Fourth infantry.

National Drive At 8 Per Cent of Goal

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15—The Fifth war loan drive passed eight per cent of the goal of individual sales during its second day.

Reported purchases through Tuesday night were $484,000,000—toward the $6,000,000,000 goal for individuals, the treasury announced last night.

The treasury said war bonds now buy more and better war equipment than they did a year ago. For example:

A heavy bomber, listed at $500,000 a year ago, now costs $250,000.

A fighter plane which, which cost $150,000 last year, now is listed at $50,000.

But the price of Army mules has gone up. The average a year ago was $190. Now it's $225.

FALSE ALARM

Firemen from the West Center street station and quad truck from Central answered a false alarm at 9:12 last night, turned in from a box at the corner of Silver and Thompson streets.

BUY U.S. WAR BONDS

Crucial Moment for Invaders In Normandy Near

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This is the beginning of the main Hitlerite counter-attack against the Allies on the Cherbourg peninsula, which means that the crucial moment of the first stage of our invasion of France is near.

It's a clash of armored giants, for tanks play a great role. The battle has swelled in fury as the Nazis have flung in reserves which have been rushed up from distant points. The conflict is fluid, and strong positions are passing back and forth in hand-to-hand fighting along the serpentine 100-mile front.

The Allies are meeting the challenge with complete confidence. They have retained the initiative on the whole, and that's vastly important.

The intensity of the battle will mount, and if the Germans have the reserves we may expect it to become one of the greatest engagements of the war. Still, the Allies have their feet firmly on shore, and they will stay there. Don't forget that we have two mighty assets which the Nazis lack—vast superiority in the air and on the sea. The enemy ranks are being raked by our warplanes and by the great guns of the fleet on the neighboring ocean.

Good luck to the gallant boys on the firing line!

De Gaulle in France

One of the most important of yesterday's momentous events was the dramatic appearance of General Charles De Gaulle, the French leader, among the Allied forces on the peninsula—his first return to home soil since the fatal days of 1940. The visit, made possible by an Allied command which was happy to serve him, will arouse fresh hope that there may be a settlement of the controversy which is clouding relations between De Gaulle's French committee on national liberation and the Anglo-American Allies.

British Prime Minister Churchill called this situation rather sharply to public attention yesterday when he requested the house of commons to defer debating the subject on the ground that discussion "would do more harm than good now." He did edge the cloud with a bit of silver when he added that he wouldn't seek delay of debate "if I had no hopes of a better solution than I can announce at the present time."

There are numerous angles involved, but the essence of them seems to be De Gaulle's demand that his committee of national liberation be recognized as the provisional government of France. This neither Washington nor London is willing to do, holding that liberated Frenchmen should pass on this great question first. Out of this have grown uncomfortable questions by the French committee regarding the scope of General Eisenhower's authority in civilian matters, the extent of cooperation by the French people (including the underground forces) with the invading Allies, and the validity of Allied invasion currency used by Eisenhower's troops.

U. S.-British Attitude

The American-British decision about recognition is self-explanatory—they want the French people as a whole to make the choice in peace time. Still, from long observation I suspect that if De Gaulle weren't such a dominating personality he might have a better chance of recognition. It's like this:

No one, so far as I know, questions that this tall, impressive appearing soldier has vast powers of leadership. He has outstanding capabilities and he has a personality which attracts followers. What's wrong then?

Well, he has the reputation of being a hard man—absolute granite—to deal with. He gives the impression that he believes himself to be a man of destiny. His way is the right way.

Now there's no question that all men of good will in America and England are anxious that the French people should handle their own affairs. If they want the general as head of their government, that will be fine. However, it seems obvious that the Allies might create great difficulties for France by thrusting such a powerful and dominating personality on her before the people have had a chance to vote. Maybe if De Gaulle softened a bit it would help.

Farmer Averts Train Wreck, Given War Bond

By The Associated Press

WAVERLY, O., June 15 — A $100 war bond was presented today to Andrew C. Derlar, Waverly farmer, for his heroism in flagging down a passenger train Tuesday night just short of a gorge from which a bridge had been washed away.

G. W. Lowery, a station agent here, made the presentation on behalf of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad.

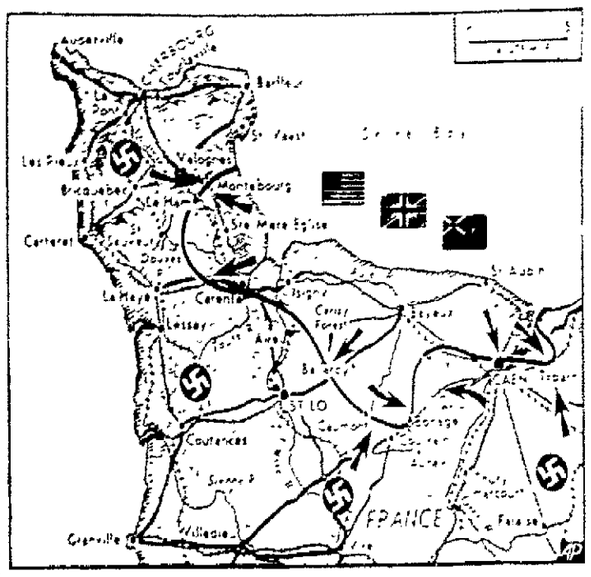
Derlar said he was eating in his home Tuesday evening when a heavy downpour flooded a gorge near his home and he saw the railroad bridge wash out. At the same moment, he heard the train approaching. He raced toward the track 200 yards away and flagged it down by waving his hat.

The train was enroute from Waverly to Jackson.

CORRESPONDENT WOUNDED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 15—Gordon Gaskill, 30-year-old war correspondent for the American magazine, received shrapnel wounds of the shoulder and a minor bullet wound in the abdomen during the invasion of France, the publication announced today, but has recovered sufficiently to leave a hospital. Gaskill lives in Mays Landing, N. J.



ALLIES THRUST INLAND, GERMANS COUNTER-ATTACK. Arrows show allied drives and German counter-attacks on the Normandy beachhead (black line). Heavy German attacks were reported after an allied thrust to Caumont and Villers-Bocage, a drive apparently intended to outflank Caen. Germans were attacking at Montebourg, in the Caumont-Caen sector, and at Troarn.

tions of France to meet the allied thrusts.

Appearance of the second German panzer division—the best armored unit in the German army—indicated the Germans were making a supreme effort to seal off the allied beachhead.

The next two or three days are expected to show whether the German high command has been forced to throw reserves into the battle piece-meal—as in the past nine days—or has been able to keep them intact for a final, all-out counter-attack.

Fresh Nazi Troops Arrive

A front-line dispatch last night from Associated Press War Correspondent Roger D. Greene indicated two or more fresh German armored divisions, thrown into the battle between Caen and Tilly-Sur-Seulles to the west, have been unable to halt the allied forward surge.

Greene said newly-arrived enemy troops, some brought up from points 200 miles away, were going directly into battle—merely to check allied moves.

"The Germans nowhere in this sector have the initiative," a British staff officer told Greene. "They simply are reacting to our moves and are continually being jabbed off balance."

"The enemy is extremely sensitive to our actions on the left bank of the Caen canal and apparently feels that our bridgehead there threatens a line to which he may want to withdraw."

American doughboys thrust further across the narrow neck of the Cherbourg peninsula after breaking back a German counter-attack on Carentan. A Berlin broadcast said the Yankees were receiving reinforcements for a new forward leap.

Yanks Win Position

Associated Press War Correspondent Don Whitehead said in a dispatch received last night that the Americans had won possession of high ground south of the town.

Report Increased Fighting in France

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 15—Today's German communique said that the fighting in Normandy was increasing in violence and that the allies were making powerful efforts to enlarge their bridgehead in all directions.

"Among salvoes of heaviest naval guns incessant air attacks and with freshly brought up infantry and tank forces being thrown into action on both sides the battle is approaching a climax," the German high command declared.

Allied parachute troops which landed behind German lines northeast of St. Lo were wiped out, the broadcast said, and several "stiffly defended" villages east of Caumont were taken by German forces.

To the west and north of Ste. Mere Eglise, however, it was admitted the allied forces gained ground.

The communique asserted that 14 allied transports totaling 101,000 tons and two destroyers were sunk or damaged by German aerial bombs and torpedoes last night.

A fresh allied landing attempt off the mouth of the Orne was beaten off, the communique said, by coastal batteries which dispersed the landing formation and damaged a cruiser and destroyer.

GERMAN RESISTANCE SNAPS AGAIN IN ITALY

By The Associated Press

ROME, June 15—Allied troops, breaking the stiffening German resistance of the last three days, have made a general advance all along their line in Italy taking Orvieto, Aquila and Narni and pushing onward, allied headquarters announced today.

Orvieto is 57 miles northeast of Rome; Narni, 41 miles north, and Aquila, 54 miles northwest. Along the west coast the Fifth army has advanced 79 miles beyond Rome.

As one Eighth army column entered Orvieto, an important road junction northeast of Lake Bolsena, another reached the outskirts of Terni, but was delayed by a blown bridge and a German counterattack in the vicinity of the city.

Fifth army troops along the west coast met determined enemy resistance at Magliano, 11 miles northeast of Orbetello, but swept it aside and entered the town.

The fall of Orbetello, itself, a west coast town 71 miles beyond Rome and the center of German resistance to the fifth army's offensive, was reported last night.

In the Lake Bolsena area French troops continued to advance and the Americans reached Pitigliano, 11 miles west of the northern end of the lake, and sent reconnaissance elements farther.

Allied troops in the Adriatic sector are across the Salmo river.

Despite the arrival of fresh German divisions in Italy allied armies still are encountering only formations made up of remnants of the 14th German army. Apparently these are being used for the present delaying action and the new divisions are being saved for a stand on a line farther north.

What news will Gen. Eisenhower get from us?

You know now what we've heard from him.

We've heard that Eisenhower and his Americans have hurled themselves like a thunderbolt against the bristling defenses of Hitler's Wehrmacht!

We've heard that they are smashing at our foe—sparing neither steel nor sweat nor blood in one final, furious assault that marks the supreme military effort of this War!

And what news do Eisenhower and his men expect from us?

Men and women of America—what the Invasion is to our fighting men, the 5th War Loan is to us at home!

For us, as well as for them, this is the crisis—the time for tremendous, overwhelming effort! Make no mistake! The 5th War Loan will undoubtedly be the biggest, most vitally important financial effort of this whole War!

If the 5th War Loan is to succeed, each one of us must do more than ever before—must buy double . . . yes, triple . . . the Bonds we bought last time.

Our men expect to hear that we are buying double—that we are matching their sacrifice as best we can—that the American nation, soldiers and civilians together, is making one gigantic effort to win this War!

That's the news our men expect to hear from us.

Will you personally see that they get it?

And here are 5 more reasons for buying Extra Bonds in the 5th!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the War.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

Marion, Nearby Counties Have Good Chance To Meet Higher War Bond Goals

Marion and nearby counties may be a bit wide-eyed about the size of their Fifth War Loan quotas—they are the biggest financial goals ever set for any of the counties—but a glance at the record shows that on the basis of their performances in the Fourth War Loan they have a good chance of making their bigger quotas, provided the workers' organization functions vigorously and public response is on a par with the last drive.

Marion county, for example, pushed its grand total in the Fourth war loan up to $4,469,130, far beyond the $2,838,000 goal. Its E bond quota of $819,000 was likewise topped by E sales totaling $1,014,089. Incidentally, the state headquarters credited Marion county with an unexpected $44,283 figure representing the purchases by Marion county men and women in the armed forces or in federal employment away from Marion.

Here's how the other counties near Marion stood when the reports were all in for the Fourth War Loan:

Morrow—total sales, $657,958 (quota, $557,000); E sales, $212,618 (E quota $158,000).

Union—total sales $856,638 (quota $705,000); E sales $380,814 (E quota, $296,000).

Wyandot—total sales, $1,323,352 (quota $1,180,000); E sales $501,671 (E quota, $296,000).

Crawford—total sales, $3,233,316 (quota $2,620,000); E sales, $784,417 (E quota, $735,000).

Hardin—total sales, $2,016,333 (quota $1,400,000); E sales, $557,298 (E quota $374,000).

Delaware—total sales, $1,185,442 (quota, $1,021,000); E sales, $557,298 (E quota, $374,000).

Cat Adopts Baby Rat, Gives It Motherly Care

The fact that she is nursing a baby rat along with her own five tiny kittens does not seem to disturb the cat owned by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Tyler of the Prospect pike south of Marion.

Apparently the mother cat does not think it strange to care for the tiny rat with her first litter of kittens. Only about two inches long, the rat receives as good care as the kittens. The Tylers do not know how the rat joined the cat family.

Wartime Shopping for Food

By BETSY NEWMAN

There was when the lady of the house just popped in an order to the grocer and then the goods were delivered. Even then we were a bit choosy about what we picked out and tried to get what was in stock that is to get the most and the best for our money. Nowadays it is a necessity to shop in the store and not only see what we're getting but to help ourselves as well. There are decided advantages in this wartime measure, as one does get ideas of the foods in the market and suggestions of what to serve.

MENU

Pan-Broiled Pork Chops, Parsley Potatoes, Savory Beets, Salad, Fruit Custard, Tea or Coffee

Savory Beets

Young beets, 2 tbsps. butter or margarine, ½ tbsp. water, ½ tsp. salt, 1 tbsp. sugar, dash pepper, 1 tbsp. vinegar.

Clean and peel beets and add to hot, other ingredients. Reheat beets with seasonings in top part of double boiler.

Salad

1 head lettuce, Chicory, 1 bunch watercress, 1 or 2 hard-boiled eggs, raw or cooked shoestring carrots, a few ripe olives, 2 sliced tomatoes.

Arrange greens on chilled plate, topping with sliced eggs, sliced olives and tomatoes. Serve with French dressing seasoned with paprika, chili powder or celery salt, to which 1 teaspoon of sugar has been added. Slices of cold chicken added to the above ingredients in this salad make it a Salada Boliviana, a main dish for a luncheon or supper.

Fruit Custard

2 c. or 1 pt. milk, 3 egg yolks, ¼ tsp. salt, ¼ c. sugar, ½ tsp. vanilla.

Scald milk in double boiler. Beat eggs, add sugar and salt, add hot milk gradually, strain into custard cups and return to double boiler and cook as for soft custard, stirring the sides of the pan and bottom of the spoon. Remove from heat, flavor and cool. When cool, pour over fresh or cooked berries or fruit, and serve thoroughly chilled.

FARM AND LABOR INCOME GOES UP

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 15—Increases in the incomes of farmers since pre-war 1939 are greater than those of wage and salary workers "and parts of those increases have been more rapid than have the net profits of corporations," Brig Gen Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Co., asserted today.

Writing in the bank's monthly business review, he reported that farm proprietors' incomes in the last quarter of 1943 were 284 per cent that of the average 1939 earnings, against 242 per cent for wage and salary earners and 213 per cent for corporations.

Ayres said the average annual wage of the nation's 22,500,000 mechanical workers, including mining, manufacturing, construction and transportation workers, increased from $1,399 in 1939 to $2,370 in 1943, a rise of 169 per cent.

During the same period, earnings of so-called white collar workers, which "numbered nearly 17,000,000 in 1943," rose 129 per cent, from $1,182 to $1,530. For the comparison, Ayres listed as white collar workers those in wholesale and retail trade, financial occupations, state and local governments and those engaged in several of the service occupations.

Industrial production showed a decline during April, Ayres said preliminary figures showed. The index showed April production 38.3 per cent above the computed normal, compared with 40 per cent over normal in January, and 39.3 in February.

MARIONITE ON OPA ADVISORY BOARD

Charles F. Parshall Named; Future Policies Studied.

When OPA district officials met yesterday in Columbus, Charles F. Parshall of Marion was named to the OPA labor advisory board for the district, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Mr. Parshall, inspector for the Ohio Public Utilities commission here, was named to the board as a representative of the Order of Railroad Conductors. The appointment was made at a meeting called by John H. Summers, district OPA director.

Discussion at the meeting concerned retention of certain OPA regulations after the war. Labor officials urged that some measures be retained and commended OPA officials for their administrative work, the news dispatch reported.

"We are determined to continue rationing . . . even after the war is won, in order to keep a cushion," said Phil Hannan, secretary of the Ohio Federation of Labor.

Summers, predicting strong price control measures in coming years, said, "Price matters must be given more consideration than in the past to avoid inflation."

Others named yesterday as the six-man labor advisory board was enlarged are T. P. Caniff of Steubenville, AFL; Samuel J. Davidson of Steubenville, CIO, and Clifford Sheppard of Newark, Order of Railroad Conductors.

Marion Soldier Has Chat with Race Film Star

A Marion soldier and Miss Jeanne Crain, feminine lead in "Home in Indiana," which made its screen debut last night, had a Hollywood telephone chat recently as a result of scenes for the picture having been filmed here.

The soldier, Pfc. Robert Bolander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bolander of 1051 Bennett street, was at Ft. Rosecrans, Calif., when the Marion scenes were being taken and he followed the developments through The Star. When the movie crew returned to Hollywood, he contacted Miss Crain by phone. Later she sent him an autographed photograph of herself.

Pfc. Bolander is now home on furlough and will leave this week for Camp Barkeley, Tex., where he has been stationed with a field artillery unit for the past month. He is a former Huber employe.

"Little Sunker," badly chewed by flak, returned to its base with the left engine hitting on only four cylinders. An escorting plane dropped a 1,000 pound bomb amid ship on a destroyer.

"Eager Wolves," piloted by Lt. Alfred Wolfram, Detroit, and "Dragon," with Lt. Glenn Pruitt, Tracy, Calif., at the controls, closed on the second destroyer Pruitt skipped a 500-pounder on the bow and Wolfram scored a direct hit on the stern.

Third Ship Goes Down

The third destroyer was sunk by the "Mad Missourian" flown by Lt. Archie P. Trantham, Cape Girardeau, Mo., and "Sacramento Belle," with Lt. Robert A. Beck, New Albany, Ind., piloting.

Lt. Paul R. Sciortino, New Orleans, saw two enemy ships smoking and settling and another about to go under. To the right he saw a fourth destroyer billowing smoke. It had been attacked from masthead level by "Mitch the Witch," piloted by Ronald E. Machmkosky, Evanston, Ill.

A destroyer which was providing a close screen for the cruiser made a 90-degree turn, exposing the plane on the Witch's wing—"The Straggler"—to a stream of fire. "The Straggler" blew up in mid-air and winged over into the sea.

Lightnings flying top cover for the Mitchells lingered after hte engagement and confirmed the sinkings. Pilots reported that only the cruiser and a damaged destroyer survived the savage 15-minute attack.

There are more than 100 cannon and more than 14,000 small arms and machine guns in an Army infantry division.

Henry Thomas Pilots Ensign Bill To Triumph in "Phantom Filly" Stake

ANYTHING —About— SPORTS

By Charles Elliott

PREVIEW OF HARDING GRID PROSPECTS

IT MAY be a trifle early to [talk] football, especially in March, [when] where summer sports are currently holding forth in such a big way, but nonetheless let's go a little gridiron gabbing about the 1944 Marion Harding team, which won't begin practicing until Sept 1.

Just what will the Prexies have come three months from now? How will the '44 edition compare with last year's North Central Ohio conference champions which won seven games, lost but one and tied one?

Pessimism undoubtedly prevails among Harding High football followers. But it did before the highly successful 1943 campaign was under way. However, this year, the boys who sing the blues have a little more substance to their side of the argument.

Last season, Harding was given an outside chance to finish second or third in the N. C. O. It seemed to be all Ashland and Coach Gallon's Orangemen were rated slightly above the locals. However, the Presidents had some natural footballers last year, big husky boys, who perhaps might not have seen much competitive action but had the native ability and the spirit. With such customers as Chuck Fazio, Stew Young, Elvin Beach, Bob Lee, Vern Orth, Jack Koeppen, Russ Midlam, Jack Beam, Dick Lemmirter, Bob Strobel and others around, you've got the makings of a good, if not excellent, ball club.

But this year, Joe Petrich, who assumes the head coaching job from Pvt. Vic Dorris doesn't have such a multitude of talent. Sure enough Elvin Beach, who was an All-Ohio center as a junior and next fall as a senior should again receive state honors hands down, will be with the Prexies to pester the opposition. He and Guard Bob Strobel are only full-fledged regulars on last fall's team expected to be around next autumn. And it's feared Strobel might get his call to the colors before September. Bob Lee, the dependable blocking back on last year's team has joined the Navy. The Pat "Tex" Riley and the world's heaviest wrestler, Martin Levy, weight 625 pounds, will make up the one team in a tag team match at the Marion Armory tonight. The other team will be the former title holder, Martino Angelo, and the rough Buddy Knox. Levy is well known all over this continent having wrestled in Mexico and Canada as well as most large cities in this country. Just what Angelo and Knox will plan out against this mountain of flesh will be hard to figure out.

The one-hour opening match at 8:30 brings in a newcomer, Cy Larsen of Canton against Gorilla Pogi. Call the Armory after 6 o'clock for reservations. No advance in prices.—Adv.

ALTHOUGH the first heat was so close the final decision had to be rendered by the "Tell tale" photo finish, Ensign Bill, brown [gelding] by Henry Thomas of Lexington, Ky., was proclaimed winner of the $1,000 "Phantom Filly" stake for two year old pacers, feature of last night's Main Little Grand Circuit card at the county fairgrounds.

The race, considered a preview of bigger pacing events this year and next, ran only two heats Ensign Bill winding up on top in each. Under a special harness racing rule that applies chiefly to two-year-old pacing events a race will go only two heats if the same horse wins them both. If it had transpired that the first and second heats were won by different horses, these two starters would come back for a "run off," two-way third heat to determine the race victor.

Approximately 2,000 fans at the fairgrounds last night saw Foy Fairpoint of Pontiac, Mich., invade the winners' lists by driving Armada Wood, a brown mare owned by Mrs. George McCarney of Pontiac to triumph in the second race, the $360 17 pace. Armada Wood won the first two heats and coasted to a place finish in the third.

The final event, the 13 pace for a $300 purse was copped by Jessie Nutonia, brown mare driven by Herman Ross of Dayton in an uphill battle. After finishing no better than third in the first heat which was captured by Ray Abbe, Jessie Nutonia came through with wins in the last two rounds. The last heat of this race was especially tight, Jessie Nutonia winning over Ray Abbe in the homestretch by a margin of a head. These two horses were not only vying for the heat victory but honors in the race.

Another $1,000 event, the Stone Grill Stake, will be the main fare on tonight's Circuit menu at the fairgrounds. This stake will be a 20 class stake. Other races tonight, the seventh program in the meeting which runs through June 24, are the two divisions of the 24 class pace, both for $300 purses.

Split Daily Double

Last night saw the first split daily double ticket in this year's harness meeting directed by Frank M. Foster. The double combined the winners of the first heats in the second and third races—Armada Wood and Ray Abbe respectively. No tickets had been placed on Ray Abbe as the second half of a daily double combination so a split ticket resulted. Two prices were returned on the double, $14 and $9.60. Other exceptionally high prices last night were the $30 straight for Armada Wood, in the first heat of the second race and the $34 straight for Ray Abbe in the third event.

It was Uhl Abbe driven by Harry Short of Washington, C. H., in the lead at the start of the "Phantom Philly" stake, Cita Hal hoofed it past the half pole in front in a time of 1:07. Uhl Abbe took his turn on the right side of the see-saw in the upper turn. However, Ensign Bill who had made a bid in the backstretch came through to catch Uhl Abbe and a photo finish resulted. The nod was given to the Ensign. In the second and final heat, Ensign Bill led all the way, carding the half in 1:06½. He won by three lengths over Cita Hal.

Queen Day was ahead in the start and half of the first heat of the second race but Armada Wood led when the upper turn was reached and won by four lengths. Al Silk was front horse at the half-way mark in the second heat but Armada Wood, taking a liking to the front position, went ahead in the backstretch and won by about a length. Mrs. Liberty Bell chalked up a six lengths' victory in the last heat.

Abbe Pulls Out

Ray Abbe pulled out from an unfavorable position to take the lead in the upper turn of the first heat of the third event. His victory was by a substantial margin, Jessie Nutonia led at the two extremes of the second heat, at the start and finish—but not so much in between. Torrid Zone did the half in 1:05 in this session and led through the backstretch. Jessie Nutonia came in to win by a head. The third race was a rousing one with Jessie Nutonia and Ray Abbe battling for race laurels. Jessie Nutonia won with a great finishing "kick."

DATES LISTED FOR '44 HUNTING SEASON

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Ohio's rabbit and pheasant season will open two days earlier and run two days later under regulations adopted yesterday by the Ohio conservation and natural resources commission. Few other changes were made in the game regulations for next fall and winter.

The rabbit and bird season will open at noon, eastern war time, Nov. 17, with the pheasant, Hungarian partridge and grouse season ending Dec. 2, and rabbit hunting continuing through Jan. 13.

The commission removed Hamilton and Perry counties from the closed counties on red foxes, but placed Noble, heretofore open, on the closed list.

For Noble and the 13 counties of conservation district seven in southern Ohio comprising the closed list, the red fox season was set from Nov. 17 to Jan. 13.

The closed season on skunk in conservation district number seven was removed.

The commission adopted a tentative open deer season in Adams, Scioto and Pike counties to run for five days, Dec. 4 to 9, in contrast to a two-week season last year.

Other hunting dates set were:

Squirrel, northern zone, Sept 22-30; southern zone, Sept. 15-30.

Coon—6 p. m. to 6 a. m., Eastern war time, Nov. 17-Jan.20.

Mink, muskrat, opossum and skunk in the inland counties, Nov. 17 to Jan. 20. Lake Erie counties, Nov. 17-March 1.

No changes were made in last year's regulation on bag limit and possession limit after the first day on any game species.

Feature Race Of Circuit Meeting Set for Saturday

JAKE MAHONEY

Turf action in the 1944 Marion Little Grand Circuit harness race meeting will reach a peak in interest and attendance is expected to be the biggest ever when the Morral Supply Co. 2:18 Bar stake is raced for a purse of $5,000 at the county fairgrounds Saturday night.

Jake Mahoney of Toledo, pictured here, will drive Dr. Brodie, owned by the Saunders Mills stables of Toledo, in the bar pace. Mahoney has already driven Dr. Brodie in the Marion meet here, best finish being third in a race last week.

This stake has been classified for weeks by local race officials as the "feature of the entire meeting." And from the field of horses and contingent of drivers that have been lined up for the race, it shouldn't miss by far being the feature race on any half-mile track this season, to say nothing of the 15-night Marion meeting.

Joe McGraw, presiding judge at this year's meet, has this to say about the big bar pace, which will be staged on the ninth night of the local program, "It will undoubtedly be one of the biggest races of the year on a half mile track and the best of the meeting here." The meet as a whole is rea' good—high class."

Joe should know for he's been officiating big harness race meets

Walters First Major League Pitcher To Capture 10 Game

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bucky Walters of the Cincinnati Reds became the first major league pitcher to win 10 games this season when he hurled the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-0 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates in 11 innings.

Pitching last night's game, the Reds' ornament righthander has started 12 games and completed 11 of them. Only Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves has pitched more complete games, 12.

Walters has hurled 114 innings in which he has allowed 22 runs and 74 hits, an average of less than six hits and 1.65 runs per game.

In all three games chalked up against him as losses, he pitched 24 innings in which the Reds failed to score a single run for him. Every time they did manage to score for him, he captured the game. Besides just missing a perfect game against Boston, Walters has pitched three shutouts.

The Boston Red Sox won their seventh and eighth straight by capturing both games of a double-header from the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-4 and 5-0. Fred "Red" Barrett won the opener in relief for his first major league victory and Pinky Woods won a six-hit shutout in the nightcap. The double win moved them one game behind the league leading St. Louis Browns.

The New York Yankees ended a seven game losing streak by whipping the Washington Senators 6-2 behind Walter Dubiel's five-hit pitching. The victory hurdled the Yankees back into first division in fourth place.

The Detroit Tigers took both ends of a twin bill from the Cleveland Indians 3-0 and 11-3.

The league leading Browns overwhelmed the Jimmy Dykes less Chicago White Sox, 13-1, as Nelson Potter hung up his seventh victory of the season, aided by Al Zarilla who banged out four hits.

DAD'S good fellowship is something that stands on the record. It began when he was born an American kid - - - full of life, full of fun, full of fair play. He's kept it right through life. He's still fun - - - still an American kid. He gets along fine with his contemporaries - - - and is a swell friend to his children and their pals. He's doing a wonderful job on the home front - - - and often fighting on the battle fields of this war-torn world. Dad does his part all the time - - - and keeps his good humor through it all. If you are fortunate enough to have your Father at home with you this Father's Day, remember him with a gift that's worthy of the very best fellow in the world.

Marion Cubs Drop Both Ends of Twin Bill To Lima, 10-0, 4-3

Special to The Star

LIMA, June 15—Although the Marion Cubs dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Lima Red Birds at Halloran park here today, 10 to 0 and 4 to 3, Manager Grover Hartley of Marion took some satisfaction from the pitching performance of newcomer Alvin Crowe, who missed pitching a no-hit game by just a single.

Crowe didn't allow any hits after two were out in the seventh and last inning in the first game of the twin bill. Bill Packe, pinch hitting for Pitcher Ned Roberts of Lima, had a three base hit count on him with two men on the last stanza. Crowe was only one strike away from being the first hurler to chalk up a no-hit game in the 1944 Ohio State league season. However, Packe proved a meany. With two on base, he lined a single to center field. Another single by Zernia of Lima in the last inning combined with Smith's blow provided Lima with three runs to tie up the game.

The Red Birds of Cliff Marr came back in the last of the eighth to score a run and win the game. Left Fielder Neil Reside of Lima got a double in the eighth to start the winning splurge. After the bases were loaded and with Reside on third, the Lima left fielder came home on an infield grounder to Shortstop Bill Broukal of Marion. He beat Broukal's throw home by a shade.

Ned Roberts, Lima right hander did an iron man job last night, getting credit for the victory in both games. He set Marion down with two hits in the first game.

Another doubleheader is scheduled between the Cubs and Red Birds at Halloran park tonight, starting at 8:30.

All-Star Contest Ends in 13 Days

The above blank may be used by Marion and vicinity baseball fans in filling out their selections for the Ohio State league All-Star team.

To the fan whose selections in each league city correspond most closely with the All-Star team that is chosen will go two Ohio State league season tickets. The runner-up will receive one ticket.

The All-Star game, which will match the team leading the loop on July 1 against a composite all-star outfit composed of the elite among the other five clubs, will be played July 12. Manager of the All-Star team will be the pilot of the club that is in second place July 1. The game will be staged on the field of the team that meets the All-Stars.

Fans have until June 28 to select the teams and file them with the Star sports department. All selections must be sent in to Frank M. Colley of Columbus, league president, not later than June 30.

The All-Star team will have 15 players, five infielders, four outfielders, four pitchers and two catchers. In case any of the players selected for the All-Star team are members of the club that is pacing the loop July 1, runners up will get the All-Star berths.

The All-Star game is being co-sponsored by the league management and the Ohio State league baseball writers' association.

two juniors who were so frequently alternated at an end position last year, Norman Dillinger and Marshall Zuck will be a big assistance.

Exclude these boys from the picture and you have one big blur. Some of the sophomores last year may come along fast and develop to the point where they could handle starting assignments. Some of them will have to. Even some boys who were junior high school freshmen this past fall may be called upon to perform as regulars next season.

The Presidents meet the same nine foes next year that they did last—and these foes are looked for to be much tougher, the Mansfield Tygers in particular. The Tygers, with a five-man coaching staff headed by Paul Snyder, are building to be another Massillon, starting not in 1946 but next year. The locals face the Tygers at Mansfield in the season opener in September. From here, it won't be like last year's game—6 to 0 in favor of Harding.

BACK IN HARNESS

IT'S A sign that amateur sports are again back on their feet, planted firmly on the local athletic scene, when the names of some of Marion' better softball players of several years back are once more appearing on box scores filed by Marion Mewhorter, softball commission secretary and boy's program director of the Y. M. C. A. Fellows like Maynard Snyder, Woody Walters, to name only two, are back in the playing harness and doing right well for themselves. Last year, these two fellows didn't play—as well as other local softballers who found that softballing interfered with war work, or vice-versa. But this season, the boys are finding time for the game that's closest to their hearts. Keep up the good work. The attendance at games is on the upgrade and the sport of softball, one of the most respected and finest, is again going full force.

Podgajny After 6th As Red Birds Face Brews

By The Associated Press

Skipper Nick Cullop of the Columbus Red Birds was expected to send John Podgajny after his sixth mound victory tonight at Milwaukee as the junior world champions try to make it three out of four over the leading Brewers and whittle their American Association margin to four games.

With Stan Partenheimer going the route in his first start for the Red Birds, who obtained him last week from the Boston Red Sox, Columbus last night handed the Brews their fifth defeat in seven games, 8-5.

3 Horse Owners Especially Happy Men After Races

Two interesting sidelights on last night's Little Grand Circuit harness race meeting at the county fairground track, both involving owners of horses in the $1,000 "Phantom Filly" stake, should not be passed over with cursory mention.

The owners involved were Dr. W. C. Heinz of Cincinnati, whose horse, Ensign Bill was winner of the feature event, and Eddie Cronjager and Paul McPherson, both of Hollywood, who owned Torrid Scott, tied for third place in the event.

It was only fitting and proper that the horse owned by Cronjager and McPherson should have been entered in race titled "Phantom Filly" stake. Cronjager is a cameraman for Twentieth Century Fox movie studio and shot scenes at the county fairgrounds last September for the film "Home in Indiana," now showing at the Ohio theater for the first time locally. "Home in Indiana" is based on the story "The Phantom Filly."

Paul McPherson, co-owner of Torid Scott, is another Twentieth Century Fox employe. He was instrumental in the selection of the Marion fairgrounds as a site for racing scenes in "Home in Indiana."

Their horse, Torrid Scott, has been in training at Canton under Earl Reush. The impressive brown filly was driven by Byron Perry in last night's race.

A Happy Man

Dr. Heinz of Cincinnati was a happy man after his horse, Ensign Bill, won the two-year-old "Phantom Filly" pace. Any owner would have naturally been delighted to have his horse win such an important race but Dr. Heinz's joy was more than that of just an owner.

Awarded a trophy after his horse, Ensign Bill, had won the race in straight heats, Dr. Heinz said, "I'm doubly happy this evening that Ensign Bill won this race. He was named after our son," an ensign in the United States Navy.

The trophy was presented Dr. Heinz by Walter J. Michael, Bucyrus industrialist, who is owner of Miss Sarah Abbe, the "star" horse in "Home in Indiana."

Everything Happens As Reds Edge Frisch's Bucs

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, June 15—The you-know-what season is on and the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates are in the spirit.

The Reds snatched a 3-2 11 inning game from the Pirates early today after sitting out two showers, playing through a third, and listening to Manager Frankie Frisch and Catcher Al Lopez get thrown out of the game for arguing about the umpires' decision to continue play after the seventh inning rain.

Bucky Walters thus collected his 10th victory of the year even though he gave up a run in the Pirates' 11th by walking Johnny Barrett and letting Bob Elliott get his second double of the night.

ALL-OHIO COLLEGE TRACK MEET REVIVED

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., June 15—The state's top cinder path stars will clash at Ohio Wesleyan university Saturday in a revival of the All-Ohio collegiate track championships last held 10 years ago.

The entry list includes 125 athletes, among them contestants at the national intercollegiate championships at Milwaukee last week.

Athletes from all Buckeye colleges having Navy trainees, plus Ohio State's squad, will compete. These schools include Case, Bowling Green, Denison, Oberlin, Wooster, Miami and Ohio Wesleyan. Baldwin-Wallace has not yet accepted its invitation, but is expected to compete.

George E. Gauthier, athletic director of Ohio Wesleyan university, said there would be preliminary heats in the dashes and "possibly" the quarter-mile Saturday morning, with field events and finals in track starting at 2 p. m.

All events, including the relays, with the exception of the javelin and hammer throws will be contested, Gauthier said.

for many years. Frank Foster, secretary of the Marion trotting association and general manager of the meeting, also is high in his estimation of the Saturday night highlight.

A field of at least a dozen horses is expected for the 2:04 bar pace. All of the starters will be four years and up. Latest nominee for the pace to be shipped to the fairgrounds for quartering is Carl Nagle, owned by a Lexington, Ky., horseman. My Son owned by T. R. Rick of New Castle, Pa., arrived at the fairgrounds Wednesday and has already worked out in preparation for the top-notch event Saturday. Carty Nagle last year posted best time of 2 minutes for the mile while My Son was timed in 2:02.

In addition to the bar pace Saturday, other races will be the 19 flat and 26 pace, both for $300 purses.

Tribesmen Slump Back Into Familiar 6th Spot

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 15—After occupying a first division berth for 24 hours, Cleveland's unpredictable Indians were back in the more familiar confines of sixth place today following a double spanking from Detroit's surging Tigers.

Playing before 7,500—the largest week-day gathering of the season—the Tribesmen were handed their first shutout of the campaign when Rufus Gentry blanked them 3 to 0 in the opener, and then fell victim to their most one-sided defeat of the year as Detroit annexed the afterpiece 11 to 3.

Manager Lou Boudreau almost caused a traffic jam between the Cleveland pullpen and the mound as he called for the services of eight hurlers during the two games. Mel Harder and Allie Reynolds were the only Indian elbowers who didn't toe the rubber.

GREAT BOMBER FORCE SWEEPS OVER FRANCE

1,000 to 2,000 Craft Strike Plane Plants, Airfields and Rail Yards.

By The Associated Press

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, June 15—A force of between 1,000 and 2,000 American Fortresses and Liberators and escorting fighters swept over France this morning, bombing airplane plants, airfields and railroad facilities in a dozen places.

Berlin raido reported an attack on the great industrial city of Hannover in Germany while lighter allied warplanes from bases in Normandy and Britain continued their widespread support campaign in a smashing follow-up to an 1,100-bomber operation overnight.

As a part of the latter operation several hundred Lancasters blasted E-boat pens at Le Havre with six-ton "factory busters" in daylight.

Twenty-eight hundred tons of explosives were dropped on the port in two separate attacks, the first, just before dusk, being the RAF's heaviest daylight bombardment of th ewar and its first high altitude daylight precision effort.

Targets of the American "heavies" today ranged from Nantes La Poisonniere and Angouleme to Beauvais, La Frilliere and Bordeaux. The force comprised approximately 1,000 bombers and several hundred more fighters possibly approximating yesterday's record 1500-bomber force.

Deepest Blow Since Invasion

The multiple attack, the deepest penetration of France since the invasion, took the bombers over a 300-mile expanse from Beauvais, 40 miles north of Paris and 100 miles east of the battle line, to Bordeaux, 300 miles south of the battle zone.

Angauleme is 70 miles northeast of Bordeaux, La Poissonniere 50 miles east of Nantes, which is 120 miles south of the battle zone. La Frilliere is eight miles east of Tours.

A force of Mosquito bombers attacked the synthetic oil center of Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr last night to keep the unceasing assault on Hitler's war machine going around the clock.

The Lancasters, accompanied by fighter escort, were believed to have accomplished a successful mission yesterday in their switch to American bombing tactics, for the navy reported no E-boats at work in the channel last night.

The tonnage dropped by the RAF on the thick concrete installations at Le Havre was estimated as high as 3,360 tons—more than most of the RAF's "saturation" attacks on German cities.

German broadcasts telling of the progress of the American daylight raiders today reported planes over Brandenburg province, in which Berlin is situated, as well as over Hannover.

1,100 RAF Bombers Out

In all, the RAF had more than 1,100 bombers out last night. Their targets included another string of enemy railroad centers—Douai, Cambrai and St. Pol—and German front troop concentrations at Evrecy and Aunay-Sur-Odon, only nine and 18 miles respectively, from Caen in the Normandy battle area.

Night bomber losses were placed at five—none in the Gelsenkirchen attack.

The American Ninth air force, in its heaviest assault since the first 48 hours of the invasion, sent out more than 2,400 bombers and fighters from dawn yesterday to late last night to pound key points behind the Nazi lines with 1,485 tons of bombs at a cost of 14 fighters and one medium bomber against 11 German planes shot down and 10 destroyed on the ground.

Hundreds of medium, light and fighter bombers and fighters of both the American Ninth and RAF tactical force concentrated on small targets in the area at the base of the Cherbourg peninsula, bounded by St. Loa, Coutances, Granville and Tessy, and up the peninsula.

Bag Planes On Ground

The Americans included a surprise "on deck" against the German air base at Le Mans in their operations last night. About a dozen planes were destroyed on the ground.

Hundreds of sorties were flown from the mounting number of allied air bases set up with full facilities in captured territory.

Crews of RAF Mitchells, reporting the most extensive German troop movements since D-day, bombed and strafed railroad junctions, roads, convoys and concentrations of vehicles and supplies. The Mezidon rail yards near Caen, which have been under constant day and night bombardment, were hit again.

An official recapitulation showed that since the beginning of the invasion allied planes have shot at least 415 German planes out of the air—19 of them since midnight Monday. Allied losses were listed as 607 planes, including 156 heavy bombers.

Thus far in the second week of the invasion allied loses have been 53 planes, 17 of them heavies. In the first week of the campaign allied air units flew 56,000 sorties in direct support of the invasion and dropped 44,280 tons of bombs, SHAEF said.

CO. M SOFTBALLERS BEAT PRODUCTS TEAM

In a Commercial league softball game originally scheduled for Thursday night but moved up 24 hours, Co. M. of the Ohio State Guard managed by veteran Elmer Smith tripled the count on the Marion Metal Products outfit, 12 to 4, at Garfield park last night.

Two other Commercial circuit contests are slated for tonight with Isaly Dairy and Sandwich Bar managed by Ed Cheney tangling in the feature clash at McKinley park and DeMolay and Waldo getting together at the Lincoln park field.

Although they outhit the Co. M. softballers 12 to 4, the tables for the Metal Products boys were reversed when it came to totaling runs. Lowry, Metal Products short fielder, first man up in the opening inning, blasted a home run.

Big Co. M inning was the sixth. The Guardsmen rang up four tallies in this frame. Hits were collected by Murton and Massie, Chard and Hazen drew walks and Hindman and Melby got on base through Metal Products errors.

The Metal Products team must have established some sort of local record for faulty fielding. They were charged with a grand total of 12 errors in the game with the guardsmen so you can see what factor supplied the margin of victory for Elmer Smith's charges.

Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Co. M.	202 204 2—12	6	1
Metal Prod.	101 002 0— 4	12	12

Co. M.—Bowles, and Massie; Metal Products—Murray and Layman.

B-29's Make Up New Air Force

general terms, these details of the superfortress now may be published:

Its wing span is 141.2 feet, its length 98 feet, its heights 27 feet.

It has a cylindrical fuselage, a midwing, a high dorsal fin, tricycle landing gear and is all metal.

Armament includes .50 calibre machine guns in power turrets and a 20 mm cannon. There is much protective armor.

The power consists of four 18-cylinder, radial Wright Cyclone engines rated at 2,200 horsepower for takeoff. Each engine is served by two turbo-superchargers to provide the high altitude operation desired.

Each engine drives a 16½-foot four-bladed Hamilton-Standard propeller, largest ever installed on an airplane. The propellers are connected by reduction gears so that they turn slower (one-third as fast as the engines) than any other aircraft propellers.

Crews Made Comfortable

Crew comforts surpass anything in any previous warplane. The cabin has been soundproofed, seats are of the latest design, four cots and many minor conveniences are available. The purpose is increased crew efficiency in combat despite the long time spent in the air.

Except for a hydraulic booster on the brakes, the B-29 is entirely electric. It has 150 electric motors of 49 types using power supplied by auxiliary engines.

So complex is the plane's operation that a flight engineer controls most of the power plant, the pilot using only the throttle and his usual flight instruments. The rudder and ailerons are so balanced that despite their size they are operated without the aid of boosters, thus giving the pilot the "feel" experienced in smaller aircraft.

Performance data must remain on the restricted list, but Boeing officials were permitted to say that it "carries the greatest load faster, farther and higher than any other airplane in existence," and its speed "compares favorably with the latest and fastest of the world's pursuit and fighter planes."

Takeoff and landing speeds of the B-29 approximate that of its baby brother, the Boeing B-17 Flying Fortress which weighs only half as much but is two-thirds as large. This is due to an entirely new wing, the Boeing 117 airfoil, which Boeing officials assert is the "most efficient wing ever devised." It carries a greater load per square foot than any other.

In connection with it are used flaps amounting to one-fifth the total wing area. These are lowered to 25 degrees for takeoff and 45 degrees for landing. The wing has an aspect ratio (length divided by chord or average width) of 11.5, a high figure indicating a very slender wing.

The double wheels on the main landing gear are 4½ feet in diameter, those on the nose wheel (the only double nose wheel in use) are three feet. The air pressure in the tires is less than in a bicycle tire, indicating the plane can land on relatively light runways.

The big plane is easily the most streamlined heavy bomber in the world, its contour exceeding in smoothness that of most commercial planes. It is so aerodynamically "clean" that the "drag," or wind resistance, is doubled when the landing gear is lowered.

In appearance, the B-29 has the round-nose features of the Boeing Stratoliner and the swept back wing, slender body and high tail of the Flying Fortress.

Brig. Gen. Ray G. Harris, supervisor of the midwestern procurement district of the air force materiel command, said the super Fortress was "considered a very fine airplane by the people who fly it" and that it requires no "super pilots."

He described it as a "very fine production airplane" which "probably breaks down (meaning it lends itself to sub-assembly) better than any other plane."

Commenting on the sturdiness of the B-29, Harris said in one instance it made a belly landing because of landing gear trouble and three days later, with its propellers changed, was flown to another airfield for "minor repairs to the skin."

The super Fortress is described as the "most tested airplane in the world," with 8,000 hours of wind tunnel work. It was conceived in March, 1940, in the Boeing plant at Seattle and made its first flight there Sept. 21, 1942.

SUPER FORTRESSES

to land troops on Saipan island, the Tokyo radio declared today—a daring operation which, if successful, would give the United States an ocean base within 1,500 miles of Tokyo.

Imperial headquarters communique announced a landing attempt also was being made at Tinian island in the Marianas and that "heavy fighting is in progress between Japanese units and enemy forces."

While there was no immediate confirmation of the reported landing operation, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed yesterday in his latest communique that the American task force still was operating off the Marianas Tuesday.

It was conceivable that the force—already credited with inflicting grievous losses on Japanese shipping and air power—still might be operating in that area.

Japs Make First Report

First reports of American offensive operations in the past have come from the Japanese on more than one occasion.

An attempt to land in the Marianas would be the most ambitious venture yet undertaken by American forces in their leap-frogging progress in the Pacific, during which they have moved steadily closer to the Japanese home islands in recent months with the capture of bases in the Gilberts and Marshalls.

The Japanese, as usual, maintained they had beaten off the first landing attempts at Saipan, but said "heavy fighting" still was going on.

Tokyo acknowledged only yesterday that the Marianas were under attack by a naval task force and made extravagant claims concerning the damage the Japanese had inflicted on the attacking naval units and aircraft. The task force operations were first announced by Nimitz 24 hours earlier.

Today's broadcast said attempted landings were made from a force of 20 transports which appeared off Saipan about 6:30 a. m.

About 70 landing barges and 20 or more special craft were employed in the actual landing operations, Tokyo said.

Between Tokyo and Truk

The Marianas group is situated on a direct line between the big Japanese naval base at Truk—which has been a repeated target of American raids—and the home islands of Japan.

Should American forces succeed in landing on Saipan they would have a foothold nearer Japan than any of the bases already conquered in the Pacific.

The Japanese reports of the attempted landings were not confirmed immediately by American sources.

(The OWI said U. S. government monitors had picked up this account of the attack in an English-language propaganda broadcast from Tokyo.

"With full knowledge of the enemy's attempt, our garrison forces allowed the invaders to approach as near as possible to the coast and then opened up a fierce concentrated fire on the enemy and foiled the attempt. Thrown into wild confusion by the accurate Japanese fire, the enemy barges, or what was left of them, swiftly returned to their mother vessel at about 8:20 a. m.

("Later, at about 10 o'clock, the enemy attempted another landing on Marianas harbor west of Saipan, but Japanese forces are now inflicting heavy punishment on the invaders.")

The Marianas stretch for 400 miles north and south on the eastern flank of the Philippines. Saipan is 750 miles south of the Bonin islands. The Bonins, some 600 miles from Tokyo, constitute the innermost Pacific defenses of the Japanese mainland.

Successful invasion of the Marianas—which include U. S.-owned Guam, largest of the group—would advance Nimitz' fleet bases 1,600 miles westward from the present advanced positions in the Marshalls.

The United States is the world's largest user of cork.

RUSSIANS HIT MAIN FINNISH DEFENSES

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 15—The Red army hurled the Finns across an important but unnamed river today as it pressed on toward the port of Viipuri against an enemy who is throwing up what Red Star described as "a multitude of obstacles."

All dispatches stressed the difficult fighting conditions faced by Col. Gen. Leonid A. Govorov's troops. In numerous places the Russians were employing special squads to cut through dense forests and build highways.

There were many indications that Finnish resistance was stiffening and that the Soviets had come up against the main Finnish defenses, but no indications that the Finns had been able to stop the Red army in any sector.

Falling back toward Viipuri, the Finns chopped down hundreds of tall firs across the highway and railroad line.

The Finns were using the forests for ambushes, causing extreme caution on the part of Soviet troops anxious to save every tank in the near wilderness of the Karelian isthmus.

The Russians introduced heavy bombers in efforts to blast through the forests.

Russian troops have penetrated the Finnish lines at Kuterselka, the Finns acknowledged today in a communique broadcast from Berlin. The bulletin also said Viipuri was attacked last night by 150 Soviet planes.

GRAIN MARKET TURNS TO BULLISH SIDE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 15—Attention of the grain market today was focused on the outcome of house-approved legislation seeking to guarantee parity prices for farm products and the trade was bullish. Wheat and rye futures sold as much as five cents higher, the limit permitted by board of trade regulations, and oats followed the upturn.

A new wave of buying, much of it short covering, ran the market into stop loss orders.

Blind Bogey Features Golf Club Stag Event

Highlight of the monthly Marion Country club stag party held at the club Wednesday night was a blind bogey golf tournament, top honors in which were shared by H. C. Lautenslager and John Glackin, each with 18-hole scores of 83.

Carl Danner placed second in the bogey event with a 92 and Bob Graham third with 87. Approximately 120 club members attended the stag party, dinner for which was served by Mrs. Dixie Eichman, supervisor of the Country club house.

Dr. Ingmire Speaks At Epworth Bible School

A talk on symbolism of the cross was given by Dr. S. M. Ingmire, pastor of Epworth Methodist church, in a worship service of the Vacation Bible school at the church this morning. Scripture was read by Mary Lou Hall, prayer was by Phoebe Frew and a piano solo was presented by Dan Brickley Jr. Four new pupils and a new worker were enrolled today making a total of 148. The first baseball practice game of the boys group was held last night and another meeting of the group will be held at the Harding High school stadium tonight at 7.

MINE SINKS RELIEF SHIP

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, June 15 — The Swedish Red Cross ship Fenja sank between Calino and the Turkish mainland "probably as result of striking a mine," the Swedish office was advised today. The ship was carrying relief supplies for the Greek population in the Aegean islands.

LEADERS MOVE SLOWLY TODAY

Specialties in Low Price Field Command Some Attention.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 15—Specialties, many in the low price range, held the stock market spotlight today as most of the standard leaders rested after their recent advance.

Price movements were narrow in all the major groups and near the fourth hour advances and declines were about evenly distributed. Some of the newly exploited speculative favorites were up a point or so.

Volume fell to the lowest level since the market whipped up bullish fervor on the successful invasion of France.

Such stocks as U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, Woolworth, San Fe and Westinghouse were in slightly lower ground most of the time. Dow Chemical, Johns-Manville and Philip Morris attracted higher bids.

Rescue Parties Hunt Wrecked B-17 Crew

By The Associated Press

FORT COLLINS, Colo., June 15—Rescue parties left this northern Colorado city early today to a point 30 airplane miles west, high in the Rocky mountains, where a B-17 bomber lies in a tangled, burned heap, and its crew, dead or injured, without food or drugs.

Seven of the 10-man crew are believed alive.

The plane was enroute from Rapid City, S. D., to the Colorado Springs airbase when it crashed.

Two of the airmen were found weak and suffering from shock by two Ault, Colo., fishermen near an isolated spot on the little Beaver creek west of Fort Colling last night.

and pill boxes were a dangerous hazard."

Stimson noted that Allied forces suffered casualties in the operation "but not as many as our commanders were obliged to calculate upon beforehand."

Tracing the rapid northward advance of the Allies in Italy, the secretary said that while the Germans had brought up some fresh troops to stiffin resistance temporarily on the west end of the line the Nazis' right wing again had collapsed. The condition of the Nazi forces, he added, is such that they may require reinforcements to attempt a stand north of their present positions. He commented that any such reinforcing would have a bearing on other fronts.

Turning to the Pacific, Stimson noted new blows in Japan's Marianas islands, in the Kuriles, and throughout the southwest Pacific and then said:

"These form a guarantee that pressure on this (the Japanese) enemy will mount and that no part of his empire will be safe."

Summer Schedules Of Networks Shifted

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 15—Realignment of network summer schedules is taking place almost constantly.

Transfer of the Thin Man dramas back to NBC at 8:30 Friday nights left open their former 10:30 time on CBS Sunday nights. So, We the People is being moved into that spot from 7:30. And in at 7:30 goes an Eddie Cantor revue that also includes the songs of Joan Brooks, Brad Reynolds and the Bobby Tucker chorus. In addition at 7 CBS is inserting an invasion half-hour, with London and New York pickups.

Wednesday night changes come about as a result of the departure of Frank Sinatra for a vacation from his mid-week series. Jack Carson moves up a half hour to 9, while at 9:30 a new Mildred Bailey series is to be introduced.

Collection of Waste Paper Closes Today

Speed with which Marion's salvage paper drive proceeded yesterday changed plans to close the drive tomorrow. The entire north section of the city was to be covered today. A total of 28 tons of waste paper has been collected in the drive so far. At $12 a ton this will net Boy Scouts approximately $312 for repairs at Camp John A. Owens.

Because of the number of trucks provided by Marion firms, the drive was carried on at a faster rate than had been anticipated. Boy Scouts assisted in the drive by gathering bundles of paper from front porches and ringing doorbells at homes where paper was not put out for collection. The drive was sponsored by the Marion County Salvage committee.

OBJECTS TO CEILINGS

CLEVELAND, June 15—Richard E. Reisinger, president of the Cleveland industrial union council, central body for the CIO affiliates, urges members to resist employment ceilings to be put into effect in Cleveland and other critical labor areas July 1 by the war manpower commission. The council president told delegates at a meeting last night that under the WMC regulations male employes who have been laid off prior to July 1 would be unable to return to their jobs after the deadline, would lose seniority rights and might have to take jobs elsewhere at lower wages and less favorable working conditions.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

THROUGH the terror that was gripping me as though an iron fist were squeezing my nerves, I was conscious of a feeling of pride in my young son and my nephew. They were meeting the emergency which the sound of footsteps in the pathway leading from the secret chambers to the grove of trees outside presented as though they were veteran sleuths instead of Boy Scouts not yet entitled to high honors in their organization.

It was so short a time since they had been small boys clinging to my skirts and now they were as calm as though what we were doing was a routine matter of gathering eggs.

Heard Nothing

"I didn't hear anything," Junior whispered against my ear, as he Roderick and I huddled together on the third step above the door. They were winding steps, and even if the person with the footsteps had a light we should be able to see him before he caught sight of us.

My hearing is unusually acute, but I myself did not hear the footsteps now, and visioned two possibilities, one that, in Dicky's teasing phraseology, my "imagination had been working overtime"; the second, that whoever was approaching had been stopped and puzzled—or frightened—at the sudden shutting off of the lights.

The next instant, however, Junior gripped my arms excitedly.

"I hear them now!" he whispered. "They're coming this way, and coming fast. Listen, Mums. Have you got your pistol?"

"My little silencer one," I whispered. "I gave the army one back to Uncle Hugh.

Piece of Iron Pipe

"Gee, I wish I had it now!" he sighed.

"Look, Auntie Madge," Roderick struck in, "There's a piece of short iron pipe on that ledge up there above the landing. I saw it when I was up there. That'll be better than nothing. May I shin up there and get it? I won't be two seconds."

"Yes," I said, out of a sense of sheer futility, and willing to give him something to do. "But no noise, remember!"

"Not a sound! You'll see!" he whispered in my ear as he moved away from me, and I held my tiny pistol ready for use in my right hand, while in my left I held the flashlight, ready to illuminate the faces of the intruders when they should reach the door.

He kept his promise royally, for I did not hear his returning footsteps down the stairs until he spoke. "I've got it," he whispered, and then Junior pressed his hands down on my shoulders.

"Let me pass, Mums!" he whispered.

"Why" I asked.

"Because," he explained patiently, "I've got to be in front of you. I wish you'd go one step ferther up. Then I'd move up closer to you. You could shoot over my shoulder if you needed to, just the same."

Moves Up Step

For answer, I moved up as he wished, and he followed me. There we crouched, my heart filled with terror, as I knew those of the boys were also. But it was given to me to know that they also possessed a high and thrilling sense of adventure which I could not summon to my adult mind.

The footsteps advanced ever closer, then stopped again, and I put my lips close to my son's ear.

"Hold your handkerchief over your nose and mouth and try not to breathe audibly," I said, "Whisper to Roderick."

"Okay," he whispered back, and I felt him drawing out his handkerchief. For myself, I made shift with holding the sleeve of my dress against my mouth and nose, the sleeve covering the arm from which depended the hand which held the flashlight.

It seemed an eternity that we sat there keeping our breath back, holding our muscles motionless, and I knew that the boys were wondering, as I was, what this stealthily approach might mean.

I dismissed the hopeful thought that the intruder might be one of the people knowing the secret of the approach to the hiding place. The Tigers, Charley Kent, the F.B.I. man whom Hugh had discovered masquerading as one of the marauders—they had no possible reason for coming back, and the Tigers and Charley had left the house with all possible business completed before we had freed the four members of the subversive gang trying to get at Hugh and Lee Chow.

Was it possible some prowler of the countryside had accidentally discovered the path and was following it out of sheer curiosity, —a curiosity which I knew would be as devastating to my father's secret hide-out as an enemy attack could be?

The footsteps began again, and I knew that I could delay action no longer.

"Ready, Junior," I whispered. "Tell Ronald. When they reach the door, take your cue from me."

"All right, Mums," he whispered.

YOUR HEALTH

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Coffee Harmless Drink

THE HAND of the Puritan lies all too heavily on what should be the realm of the scientist in dietetics. His influence is seen in the pronouncements of self-appointed specialists, which are to the general effect that anything you like to eat or drink is for the very reason you like it, bad for you. Meat, according to this school, ruins your kidneys; pie gives you indigestion and diabetes and makes you fat, but roots and tubers and the green tops of outlandish vegetables, they are good for you.

Nothing could illustrate this better than the all too timorous attitude towards tea and coffee. Something can be said in favor of objections to alcoholic beverages and tobacco; these common habits of mankind do carry some seeds of danger. But tea and coffee are so beneficial and harmless that any argument against their use is almost entirely emotional and based on the fundamental aversion any body has to seeing somebody else have a good time.

The habit of deprecating their uses goes back a long way. As early as 1610 tea leaves were brought from Bantam to Holland and introduced to France and England a few years later. This cup which cheered, but did not inebriate, had a wide appeal and by 1750 four millions of pounds were imported into England. Coffee was soon after almost as popular. Coffee houses were set up where friends met in public to discuss life and letters over the steaming cup. Such a spectacle of human happiness was not long neglected by the moralists.

Hear the croakings of James Hannay, merchant of Portsmouth, in 1757.

"From its use, men seem to have lost their stature and women their beauty. Your very chambermaids have lost their bloom, I suppose by drinking tea."

You see, it's the same old line. He did not know that tea had any bad effects, but it gave people pleasure, so he made up some bad effects. There is not the slightest evidence that tea or coffee stunts growth or ruins the complexion, but that didn't stop him from saying they did.

The custom still goes on. I get letters all the time from people who have been frightened by well-intended friends, that coffee causes high blood pressure, that it drives you to nervous disease and jitters, that it causes insomnia and thus leads to neurasthenia.

Let us turn to real science on the subject.

In general all the effects of tea and coffee are based on their action that they make the blood flow more rapidly through certain organs—especially the brain, the heart and the kidneys. This increased blood flow makes them function better.

There seems besides the better circulation to be a direct stimulation by tea and coffee on the cells of the brain and heart. This action on the brain is why they promote wakefulness and a sense of well being. They increase the output of the heart and for this reason are especially valuable in pepping up old people.

Neither tea or coffee have any effect on blood pressure whatever. Or at least very little. To accuse them of causing high blood pressure is nonsense.

The older you get the better tea and coffee are for you. They strengthen your heart and keep you cheerful with a young outlook.

Of course their use can be abused. Very nervous people who dread insomnia should avoid them in the evening, largely because if they have a bad night they can blame it on the coffee when the real cause is something deeper in the nervous system.
